2. Each Ward of the City shall be entitled to elect one person to be denominated the Alderman of the Ward, and the persons so chosen, together shall form the Board of Aldermen; and each Ward shall also be entitled to elect one person to be denominated an Assistant Alderman; and the persons so chosen, together shall form the Board of Assistants.

3. The Aldermen and Assistant Aldermen shall be chosen for one year; and no person shall be eligible to either office, who shall not, at the time of his election, be a resident of the Ward for which he is chosen.

4. The annual election for the Charter Officers shall commence on the second Tuesday in April, and the officers elected shall be sworn into office on the second Tuesday in May thereafter; and all the provisions of law now in force in regard to the notification, duration, and conduct of elections for Members of Assembly, and in regard to the appointment, powers, and duties of the inspectors, holding the same, shall apply to the annual election of Charter Officers.

5. The first election for Charter Officers, after the passage of this law, shall take place on the second Tuesday in April, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one; and all those persons who shall have been elected under the former laws regulating the election of Charter Officers, and shall be in office at the time of the passage of this law, shall continue in office until the officers elected under this law shall be entitled to be sworn into office.

6. The Board of Aldermen shall have power to direct a special election to be held, to supply the place of an Alderman whose seat shall become vacant by death, removal from the City, resignation, or otherwise; and the Board of Assistants shall also have power to direct a special election to supply any vacancy that may occur in the Board of Assistants; and in both cases, the person elected to supply the vacancy shall hold his seat only for the residue of the term of office of his immediate predecessor.

7. The Boards shall meet in separate chambers, and a majority of each shall be a quorum to do business. Each Board shall appoint a President from its own body, and shall also choose its Clerk and other officers, determine the rules of its own proceedings, and be the judge of the qualifications of its own members. Each Board shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and the doors of each shall be kept open, except when the public welfare shall require secrecy; and all resolutions and reports of Committees which shall recommend any specific improvement involving the appropriation of public moneys, or taxing or assessing the citizens of said city, shall be published immediately after the adjournment of the Board, under the authority of the Common Council, in all the newspapers employed by the Corporation; and whenever a vote is taken in relation thereto, the ayes and noes shall be called and published in the same manner.

8. Each Board shall have the authority to compel the attendance of absent members; to punish its members for disorderly behavior, and to expel a member with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to the Board; and the member so expelled, shall, by such expulsion, forfeit all his right and powers as an Alderman or Assistant Alderman.

9. The stated and occasional meetings of each Board of the Common Council, shall be regulated by its own ordinances; and both Boards may meet on the same or on different days, as they may severally judge expedient.

10. Any law, ordinance, or resolution of the Common Council may originate in either Board, and when it shall have passed one Board, may be rejected or amended by the other.

11. No member of either Board shall, during the period for which he was elected, be appointed to, or be competent to hold any office of which the emoluments are paid from the City treasury, or by fees, directed to be paid by any ordinance or act of the Common Council, or be directly or indirectly interested in any contract, the expenses or considerations whereof are to be paid under any ordinance of the Common Council; but this section shall not be construed to deprive any Alderman or Assistant of any emolument or fees which he is entitled to by virtue of his office.

12. Every act, ordinance or resolution, which shall have passed the two Boards of the Common Council, before it shall take effect shall be presented, duly certified, to the Mayor of the City, for his approbation. If he approve, he shall sign it; if not, he shall return it with his objections to the Board in which it originated, within ten days thereafter; or if such Board be not then in session, at its next stated meeting. The Board to which it shall be returned, shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and cause the same to be published in one or more of the public newspapers of the City.

13. The Board to which such act, ordinance, or resolution, has been so returned, shall, after the expiration of not less than ten days thereafter, proceed to reconsider the same. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of the members elected to the Board shall agree to pass the same, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other Board, by which it shall be likewise reconsidered; and if approved by a majority of all the members elected to such Board, it shall take effect as an act or law of the Corporation. In all such cases the votes of both Boards shall be determined by ayes and noes, and the names of the persons voting for and against the passage of the measure reconsidered, shall be entered on the journal of each Board respectively.

14. If the Mayor shall not return any act, ordinance, or resolution so presented to him, within the time above limited for that purpose, it shall take effect in the same manner as if he had signed it.

15. Neither the Mayor nor Recorder of the City of New-York shall be a member of the Common Council thereof, after the second Tuesday of May, one thousand eight hundred and thirty one.

16. Whenever there shall be a vacancy in the office of Mayor, and whenever the Mayor shall be absent from the City, or be prevented by sickness, or any other cause, from attending to the duties of his office, the President of the Board of Aldermen shall act as Mayor, and shall possess all the rights and powers of the Mayor, during the continuance of such vacancy, absence, or disability.

17. It shall be the duty of the Mayor—

FIRST. To communicate to the Common Council, at least once a year, and oftener if he shall deem it expedient, a general statement of the situation and condition of the City, in relation to its government, finances, and improvements.

SECOND. To recommend to the adoption of the Common Council all such measures connected with the police, security, health, cleanliness, and ornament of the City, and the improvement of its government and finances, as he shall deem expedient.

THIRD. To be vigilant and active in causing the laws and ordinances of the government of the City to be duly executed and enforced.

FOURTH. To exercise a constant supervision and control over the conduct and acts of all subordinate officers, and to receive and examine into all such complaints as may be preferred against any of them for violation or neglect of duty, and generally to perform all such duties as may be prescribed to him by the charter and city ordinances, and the laws of this State and the United States.

18. Annual and occasional appropriations shall be made by proper ordinances of the Common Council for every branch and object of City expenditure, nor shall any money be drawn from the City treasury except the same shall have been previously appropriated to the purposes for which it was drawn.

19. The Common Council shall not have authority to borrow any sums of money whatever on the credit of the Corporation, except in anticipation of the revenue of the year in which such loan shall be made, unless authorized by a special act of the Legislature.

20. It shall be the duty of the Common Council to publish, two months before the annual election of Charter Officers, in each year, for the general information of the citizens of New-York, a full and detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures of the Corporation during the year ending on the first day of the month in which such publication was made; and in every such statement the different sources of City revenue, and the amount received from each; the several appropriations made by the Common Council, the objects for which the same were made, and the amount of moneys expended under each; the moneys borrowed on the credit of the Corporation, the authority under which each loan was made, and the terms on which the same was obtained, shall be clearly and particularly specified.

21. The executive business of the Corporation of New-York, shall hereafter be performed by distinct departments, which it shall be the duty of the Common Council to organize and appoint for that purpose.

22. It shall be the duty of the Common Council to provide for the accountability of all officers and other persons to whom the receipt or expenditure of the funds of the City shall be intrusted, by requiring from them sufficient security for the performance of their duties or trust, which security shall be annually renewed; but the security first taken shall remain in force until new security shall be given.

23. The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen shall, by virtue of his office, be Clerk of the Common Council, and shall perform all the duties heretofore performed by the Clerk of the Common Council, except such as shall be assigned to the Clerk of the Board of Assistant Aldermen; and it shall be his duty to keep open for inspection, at all reasonable times, the records and minutes of the proceedings of the Common Council, except such as shall be specially ordered otherwise.

24. The division of the Common Council into two Boards shall not take effect until the officers to be elected under this law shall enter on the duties of their office. Each Board shall hold its first meeting, for the purpose of organizing, on the second Tuesday of May in each year, at which time the Mayor or Clerk of the Common Council shall attend, by whom the oath of office shall be administered to the members elected. In the absence of the Mayor and Clerk, such oath may be administered by the Recorder, or First Judge of the City, or by any of the Justices of the Superior Court.

25. None of the provisions of this Act, except the eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-second sections, shall be construed as applying to the Common Council as now constituted.

26. Such parts of the Charter of the City of New York, and of the several Acts of the Legislature amending the same, as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this law, shall not be construed as repealed, modified, or in any manner affected thereby, but shall continue and remain in full force.

§ 2. In lieu of the Watch Department, and the various officers mentioned in the foregoing section, there shall be established a Night and Day Police, of not to exceed nine hundred men, including Captains, Assistant Captains, Sergeants and Policemen.

§ 3. The Police Department shall consist of the following officers:—Chief of Police, Captains and Assistant Captains of Police, Sergeants of Police, Policemen and Doormen.

§ 4. Each Ward of the City of New-York shall be a Patrol District. The Corporation shall provide in each Patrol District suitable accommodation for the Patrol of such District, to be designated "Police Station House." The Patrol of each District shall consist of one Captain of Police, a First and Second Assistant Captain of Police, two or more Sergeants, and such number of Policemen as shall be appointed to the Ward or District, by an Ordinance of the Common Council.

§ 5. The Captains, Assistant Captains, Sergeants and Policemen, shall, in and for the City of New-York, possess all the power now possessed by Marshals appointed by the Mayor of the City and County of New-York, except they shall not be entitled to execute civil process.

§ 6. The Captains, Assistant Captains, Sergeants and Policemen of each District, in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed by the Mayor, in conformity to the laws of the State and the Ordinances of the Corporation, shall watch and guard the District, day and night, and protect the Polls at Elections.

§ 7. The Chief of Police, Captains, Assistant Captains, Sergeants and Policemen, shall carry a suitable emblem or device, by which they may, when necessary, make themselves known.

§ 8. It shall be the duty of the Sergeants and Policemen, to obey such orders as they may, from time to time, receive from the Chief of Police, Captains and Assistant Captains of Police, respecting their duty; and to report, through the Captains and Assistant Captains, to the Chief of Police, all violations of the Corporation Ordinances; to preserve the public peace; and it shall be the duty of the Policemen to render every assistance and facility to Ministers and Officers of Justice, and to report to the Captains of their respective Districts, all suspicious persons, all bawdy houses, receiving shops, pawn-brokers' shops, junk shops, second hand dealing shops, gaming houses, and all places where idlers, tipplers, gamblers, and other disorderly and suspicious persons, congregate; to caution strangers and others against going into such places, and against pick-pockets, watch-stuffers, droppers, mock-auctioneers, burners and all other vicious persons; to direct strangers and others the nearest and safest way to their places of destination, and when necessary, to cause them to be accompanied to their destination by one of the Police, and to perform all other duties which shall be prescribed to them by Ordinance of the Corporation.

§ 9. The Clerks in each Police office shall keep a proper book or books, in which shall be entered at length, a description of each and every article stolen, or other property, which shall be brought to said offices, or which shall be taken from prisoners, and what disposition has been made thereof; and they shall attach a number to each and every article, and enter a corresponding number in said book or books. They shall also keep a receipt book for property delivered from said office; also, a book to contain a statement of known burglaries, larcenies and stolen property; a correct transcript of which last mentioned book shall be furnished each and every day to the Chief of Police, and perform any official service required of them by the Special Justice.

§ 10. Punctual attendance shall be required of every Officer and Patrolman connected with the Department, on all occasions; sickness and disability only shall be an excuse for absence from duty, to be proved by the affidavit or affirmation in writing of the party, that he was actually sick or disabled, and unable to do duty by reason of such sickness or disability; and it shall be competent for the Captain of the District to administer the oath or affirmation.

§ 11. Any person or persons who shall falsely represent any of the members of the Police Department of the City of New-York, or who shall maliciously, with intent to deceive, use or imitate any of the signs, signals or devices, adopted and used by the Police Department, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not less than five, nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.

Article II.

Of Appointments and Removals.

§ 1. The Chief of Police shall be nominated by the Mayor to the Common Council, and, with their approval, shall be appointed by the Mayor. The Chief of Police must be a citizen of the United States, a citizen of the State of New-York, and an actual resident of the City and County of New-York. He shall hold his office for two years, unless sooner removed from office for cause. His removal from the City and County shall vacate his office.

§ 2. All vacancies in the office of Chief of Police shall be filled in the same manner.

§ 3. The Alderman and Assistant Alderman of each Ward shall nominate to the Mayor one Captain, one First Assistant Captain, and one Second Assistant Captain of Police, and as many Policemen as the Ward may be entitled to; the Mayor may appoint all or any of the persons thus nominated. Should the Mayor reject any such nominations, other persons shall in like manner be nominated to the Mayor for such places. Each of said persons, so nominated, must be a citizen of the United States, of the State of New-York, and a resident of the Ward for which he may be nominated. All vacancies in any of said offices shall be filled in like manner. Removal from the Ward shall vacate either of said offices. The Captains, Assistant Captains and Policemen shall hold their offices for two years, from the date of their appointment, unless sooner removed under this act. The Captains of Police of the several Patrol Districts shall appoint suitable Policemen to perform the duties of Sergeants of Police.

§ 4. The Chief of Police and the Captains of the Police shall have power to suspend Policemen from office for cause; and the judges and justices shall have like power in reference to Policemen attending their courts. In all such cases of suspension, the officer making the suspension shall, within twenty-four hours thereafter, notify the Mayor of such suspension in writing, which notice shall specify the grounds of such suspension, and contain the names of the witnesses to establish the charge. The Mayor shall receive from any persons, complaints for cause against the Chief of Police, Captains, Assistant Captains, Sergeants, Policemen and Doormen. In each case of suspension and complaint, the Mayor shall cause notice to the accused to be given, to afford him an opportunity to be heard in his defence. The Mayor, or in his absence, the Chief of Police, shall examine witnesses under oath or affirmation, upon the charges and in defence, and the Mayor may for cause continue the suspension, remove the accused from office, or restore him to duty. The testimony shall be reduced to writing, which testimony, together with the decision of the Mayor thereon, shall be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Common Council; but in all cases in which the suspension is continued, the party suspended shall be deprived of his pay from the date of his suspension and during the continuance of the same. The Mayor shall have power to issue subpoenas, to require the attendance of witnesses, as on the trial of such cases, and disobedience thereof shall render parties liable to the penalties provided by law in courts of record.

§ 5. In making appointments under this article, the Alderman and Assistant Alderman of each Ward shall transmit to the Mayor a certificate of their nominations, which certificate, with the determination of the Mayor endorsed thereon, shall be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Common Council.

§ 6. No person connected with the Police Department shall be liable to military or jury duty.

§ 7. In case of the refusal or neglect from any cause of the Alderman and Assistant to nominate the officers for the said Ward, as hereinbefore provided, within twenty days after notice of any vacancy or vacancies occurring in either or all of said offices, then it shall be the duty of the Mayor to proceed forthwith to make said appointment and to fill said vacancy or vacancies.

§ 8. The Mayor, Chief of Police, and the Special Justices, and the Captains of Police, or by their, or by either of their order, shall have power to examine the books of any pawnbroker, and also to examine under oath, the pawnbroker, his clerk or clerks, if they deem necessary, when in search of stolen property; and any person having in his possession a pawnbroker's ticket, shall, when accompanied by a Policeman, or by an order from the Mayor, Chief of Police, Captain of Police, or Special Justice, be allowed to examine the property purporting to be pawned by said ticket; but no property shall be removed from the possession of any pawnbroker without process of law, required by the existing laws of this State, or the laws and ordinances of the City of New-York regulating pawnbrokers.

Article III.

Compensation of Officers.

§ 1. The compensation of Officers and Patrolmen named in this law shall be fixed by the Common Council, but shall not exceed the following sums, to wit. Chief of Police, one thousand six hundred dollars; Special Justices, one thousand five hundred dollars; Clerks of Police, eight hundred dollars; Captains of Patrols, seven hundred dollars; Assistant Captains, six hundred dollars; Sergeants and Policemen, five hundred dollars; Police officers, when sent out of the county on public business, shall be allowed all necessary expenses, upon the same being sworn to and approved by the Mayor, and allowed by the Board of Supervisors.

§ 2. No fees or compensation shall be charged or received by any magistrate, clerk, officer, policeman or constable, for the arrest of any prisoner, or for mileage, or for receiving any prisoner into the prison, or for discharging him from the same; and no fees or costs shall be charged or received for the issuing of any warrant, subpoena, or other process, or for the taking of a complaint, bail or affidavit, except as hereinafter provided. Any magistrate or officer violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to the pains and penalties for such an offence.

§ 3. The Clerk of the Court of Sessions shall file with the Chief of Police, a copy of all recognizances given to answer to a charge preferred for any criminal offence, on the same being forfeited; and it shall be the duty of the Chief of Police to cause the same to be registered in a book to be kept for that purpose.

§ 4. It shall be the duty of the Sheriff, in all cases of forfeited recognizances, placed by the District Attorney with him for collection, to report to the Chief of Police the moneys collected on such judgments, immediately after the receipt of the same; and in case the amount of the judgment cannot be collected upon any forfeited recognizances, he shall immediately, after the expiration of the time limited by law for making such collections, make a return of the same; with the causes of failure, to the Chief of Police, who shall, in all cases mentioned, enter into the book aforesaid the result thereof, opposite to the names of the persons who had become bail in such cases.

§ 5. Upon receiving information from the Sheriff of failure to collect the amount of any forfeited recognizances, from the person or persons who had become bail in such case, the Chief of Police shall notify the Court of Sessions and the Police Courts of the names of such persons, and it shall be the duty of the clerks of said courts, to register the same into a book to be kept in said courts for that purpose.

§ 6. No person registered as provided in the last preceding section, shall be received by any judge or magistrate, as bail for any person charged with any offence whatever: and in all cases of bail taken for persons charged with any criminal offence, the judge or magistrate taking the same, shall require the person so becoming bail to make affidavit in writing, that they are worth the amount for which they propose to become bail, which affidavit shall also include a description of the property constituting the amount of their liability.

§ 7. No officer authorized to let to bail a person charged with any criminal offence, shall accept as bail, any member of the Police Department, Keeper, Assistant Keeper, or Turnkey of any prison, or place of detention for persons charged with any criminal offence, or any Attorney or Counsellor practising in the Court of Sessions.

§ 8. No officer, other than the committing magistrate, shall let to bail any person charged with a criminal offence, unless notice of the application to bail such person shall have been given to the District Attorney of the City and County of New-York, at least two days before such application, specifying the name of the officer, the time and place when and where such application will be made, and the names and residence of the proposed bail, and the original commitment and proofs upon which it is founded, shall have been presented to the officer to whom the application for bail is made; the persons having the custody of such commitment and proofs shall, when required, in writing, produce the same before the officer last mentioned.

§ 9. The examination of a non-resident witness, or a witness about to depart beyond the jurisdiction of the Court, may, on the application of the District Attorney, or the party accused, upon his giving notice to the District Attorney, be taken in the manner provided in section eleven of article four, of the Act hereby amended.

§ 10. Sections twenty and twenty-one of an Act, entitled "An Act relative to the powers of the Common Council of the City of New-York, and the Police and Criminal Courts of said City," passed January 23d, 1833, shall apply to carts and cartmen, cabs and cabmen, hackney coaches and hackney coachmen, stages and accommodation coaches, or omnibuses and their drivers, and public porters and hand-cartmen.

§ 11. Sections one, two, five, six, eight, nine, twelve, fourteen and fifteen, of article first; sections one, two, three, four and six, of article third; and sections one, two and twelve, of article fourth, of the law hereby amended, are repealed.

§ 12. Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to prevent the Captains, Assistant Captains, and Policemen, already appointed under the act hereby amended, from holding their offices one year from the dates of their respective appointments.

§ 13. The Board of Supervisors of the City and County of New-York, shall have power to raise by tax the sum of fifty-seven thousand five hundred dollars, to defray the expense of the increase in the number of Policemen provided for in this act, in case the Common Council shall deem such increase necessary.

§ 14. This act shall take effect on the thirteenth day of May, eighteen hundred and forty-six, except section two of article three, which shall take effect ten days after its passage.

FIRE DEPARTMENT FUND.

TRUSTEES REPORT FOR 1848.

In accordance with the invariable custom of the Department, the Board of Trustees have the honor to submit herewith their Report for the past year. Previous to entering into an exposition of their labors, during the period named, they would respectfully call your attention to the Annual statement of the Treasurer of the Department, which is hereunto annexed, and which embraces in detail its different sources of revenue, and exhibits also a clear and succinct account of the amount expended in support of the various objects named therein, and by which you will discern at a glance, how, and in what manner, the monies of the Department are appropriated. You will perceive also, that the Firemen's Ball Committee, last year, realized from the Ball given at the Park Theatre, a much larger sum than at any former period, and it is hoped that their spirited exertions this year may meet with a corresponding degree of success.

The Treasurer reports, that there was remaining in his hands, last year, a balance of one thousand two hundred and seventy-nine dollars and eighty-seven cents, since which time he has received from various sources, ten thousand five hundred and seventy-nine dollars and thirty-three cents, which, in the aggregate, amounts to eleven thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine dollars and twenty cents; out of which there has been distributed in widows' pensions and various deeds of charity to claimants upon the Department, the sum of nine thousand three hundred and twenty-nine dollars and six cents, and two thousand dollars invested on bond and mortgage for the benefit of the widow and orphans of the late George Kerr, leaving a balance in the Butchers' and Drovers' Bank, to the credit of the Department, of five hundred and thirty dollars and fourteen cents. The Permanent Fund of the Department now amounts to thirty-nine thousand two hundred and fifteen dollars and twenty-five cents, which is invested as follows, viz.: Loaned on bond and mortgage, thirty-eight thousand nine hundred and sixty-five dollars and twenty-five cents, and two hundred and fifty dollars in Manhattan Bank Stock. In the Permanent Fund are invested for the benefit of the widow and orphans of David Raymar, six hundred and thirty-five dollars; for the widow and orphans of James S. Wells, one thousand dollars; and for the widow and orphans of George Kerr, two thousand dollars, which amounts have been subscribed by benevolent individuals, associations, and the Common Council of this city, for their exclusive benefit during their widowhood and minority of the children, but eventually reverts to the Permanent Fund of the Department. At present the Trustees pay to them the interest, at the rate of seven per centum per annum, which amounts deducted, leaves the actual Fund of the Department thirty five thousand five hundred and eighty dollars and twenty-five cents.

For the information of those Representatives who have recently entered the Department, and to those generous friends who sustain our Charitable Institution, and who are unacquainted with the manner in which its charities are dispensed, the Trustees beg leave to state, that there are nine Members composing the Board of Trustees; they divide themselves into Committees, the duties of each being defined by certain regulations, for collecting donations, purchasing wood, shoes, and coal, and in superintending the children of Firemen attending the Public Schools, &c., &c.; and in order to render speedy relief to the indigent and the distressed, they have divided the city into districts, one Trustee being assigned to each district.

In this manner the most ample means are afforded to those seeking relief; the sick and needy Fireman is promptly cared for, and should he depart this life, his remains are decently interred at the expense of the Department, and his widow and children share in that benevolence which it is the peculiar attribute of this Institution to impart.

The Trustees regret to state, that for three past years they have not only been unable to add anything to the Permanent Fund, but have experienced great difficulty in raising sufficient money to meet their actual and necessary expenditures. This has arisen from a variety of causes, and among them are the following, viz: the great and increasing demands made upon them for assistance—the small amount collected from Chimney and Gunpowder Fines, and for penalties for violating the Fire-Laws, in relation to the erection of unsafe buildings; the duty of Fire Warden, as now performed by the Star Police, being, to all intents and purposes, a dead letter. These several items at one time brought into the Treasury of the Department a considerable revenue; and in addition to the circumstances stated, the City Fire Insurance Companies, owing to the heavy losses they have met with, have been unable to contribute as liberally as upon former occasions; while the Foreign Insurance Agencies, (with the commendable exception of the Merchants' Insurance Company of Boston, and the Norwich, and Aetna In-insurance Companies,) doing an immense business here, and deriving an enormous revenue therefrom, have not contributed a dollar in aid of our fund, although applied to and appealed to; and yet they pay nothing in support of the City, and but a small tax to the State Government, and at the same time share in the full and ample protection rendered by the Fire Department. Another cause of the increased number of applications for relief from our Fund, arises from the great increase in the extent of the City, with its immense population, requiring extra facilities for the extinguishment of Fires, thereby inducing a corresponding increase in the number of the members of the Department, which from being composed at one time of only five or six hundred, is now managed by nearly two thousand. The increase in the number of Firemen did not at first seem to affect materially the Funds, but as the term of service of this large body of men expired at different intervals, the result of this accession of force has been gradually developing itself for some years past in the accumulated demands made upon our treasury. Indeed, it could hardly be expected otherwise, than that out of so large a body there would be many not only in indigent circumstances upon leaving, but that they would retire with shattered and broken constitutions, induced in the service of the City. A premature grave awaited many upon leaving, who entered the Department in the full strength of manhood, with bright hopes of the future, alas! never to be realized; they have passed away from existence, and have bequeathed to the protection of their friends and associates in the Department, widows and orphan children, of whom nine hundred of the latter, and nearly three hundred of the former, claim your aid and sympathy.

And yet, notwithstanding the services and sacrifices of the members of the Fire Department in protecting life and property in this great city, distinguished for its wealth and resources, we regret to announce that our institution languishes for want of adequate means of support. There are, however, many of our benevolent citizens who have generously aided us in sustaining our charity, and to whom the Trustees award the highest meed of praise. They beg leave to state also, that no officer of the Fire Department Fund receives any emolument or compensation whatever for his services—the duty is performed voluntarily by the Trustees, and is at times very onerous and painful, but it is discharged with cheerfulness. Our charities are dispensed without pretension—our funds are not wasted in idle dissipation, or lavishly bestowed in getting up annual dinners—nor speeches made and toasts drank to win applause or to remind our citizens of the existence of our institution. It is a plain and substantial charity, faithfully administered, in behalf of the objects contemplated by its establishment, without any parade or grand shows, and relief is judiciously given when most needed and where most required. The Trustees deem it their duty to make these representations without intending to reflect in any manner upon kindred institutions, founded upon just principles of benevolence, or upon the well known generosity of our citizens; but from the present critical condition of the finances of the Department, they are compelled to state, that unless very unusual exertions are made by its friends and members to raise funds, the Trustees will necessarily be compelled to reduce the small pittance which is given to the aged widows and helpless orphan children who depend upon them for assistance.

Indeed, fears are now and have been entertained for some time past, that unless active measures are taken to devise means other than those now adopted for raising money, the Trustees will be compelled, however reluctantly, to break in upon the Permanent Fund. Apprehensive of a result at once so ruinous to the fund, and to the comfort and happiness of those who share in its benefits, they called a special meeting of the Board in July last, and appointed a committee to confer with a similar one from the representatives for the adoption of some plan for increasing the resources of the Department. No report has as yet been made, the subject being still under consideration; but from the high character of the gentlemen composing the committees, the Trustees feel confident that important suggestions will be made; and which, when adopted, they hope may remedy the matter complained of, and enable the Department to continue its present expansive scheme of benevolence, without resorting to the painful alternative of breaking up the Permanent Fund, or of diminishing the grateful aid extended to the sick, the dying, and the dead fireman, his unfortunate widow and orphan children.

Nothing further has transpired since the last report, touching the suit of the heirs of Jeremiah B. Taylor. It is still undecided. The terms of service of John Coger, Jr., James Pryer, and Henry A. Burr, will expire at the annual meeting; it will be necessary, therefore, to elect three Trustees to serve for three years each. Mr. Burr was elected at the last meeting of the representatives to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of J. W. Ellsworth, Esq.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

By order of the Board of Trustees.

(Signed)

JAMES KELLY, Secretary.

* Note.—In March, 1815, Mr. Clinton was removed by the Council of Appointment, and John Ferguson, Esq., appointed Mayor. Mr. Ferguson then being Naval Officer of the Customs, was required by the President to state which of the two offices he would hold. By the advice of friends he resigned the Mayoralty in June following, when the Council appointed Jacob Radcliff, Esq., in his place. Mr. Ferguson held the Naval Office to the time of his death, in September, 1832. There being no minutes or this change in the books of the Common Council, the above is furnished for the Compiler by a friend.

 Nursery Buildings on Randal's Island.

The Nursery Establishment, or Juvenile Department of the New-York Alms House, is located on Randal's Island, which lies in the East River, at the mouth of the Harlem River, about eight miles from the City Hall. The buildings of this establishment, twelve in number, are plain and substantial, designed more expressly for use than for show. Five of the buildings are situated irregularly yet symmetrically on a line at intervals of one hundred feet, forming the front of the group, and having a southeasterly aspect; these five, together with two standing 260 feet in advance, at the extreme right and left, and an eighth, located eighty feet in the rear of the centre one, constitute the Nursery proper—the remaining four buildings, grouped centrally in the rear of the front line at about four hundred feet distance form the Nursery Hospital. The whole is enclosed by a neat picket fence in a plot of ground eight hundred by twelve hundred feet, with the sides at right angles to the front line of buildings. The buildings are pleasantly located at about the centre of the Island, at an elevation of thirty feet above tide-water, the ground in front sloping to the water at a gentle inclination in a south-easterly direction, affording a view of Flushing Bay, the intervening islands and adjacent country—one of the finest prospects in the vicinity of New-York.

Of the eight buildings forming the Nursery Proper, the centre one in front is devoted to the Schools and Superintendent's residence. The one immediately in the rear of this is the kitchen, and the remaining six are dwellings for the children. The School-house, 45 by 105 feet, is constructed of blue building-stone in a superior style of rubble masonry; but all the other buildings are of brick, and painted of a color resembling blue stone. In the basement of the School-house is the Steward's office, the private kitchen of the Superintendent and various store rooms. In the principal story is the Primary School, 41 by 53 feet, and 14 feet high, entered by the children at the rear of the building, one step only above the ground ; here is also, in front, the Superintendent's apartments, comprising his office and rooms for his family. The floor of these apartments, in front, is elevated three feet above that of the Primary School, being on a level with the teacher's platform, and upon this visitors are received from the hall which connects the school-room with the Superintendent's office. In the second story is the boys' school-room, 41 by 70 feet, and 17 feet high; this room is entered by the children at the rear, and by visitors from the front. Immediately in front of this room are six apartments occupied by the teachers, chaplain and others; three of these rooms are obtained by introducing a floor at mid-height of the story, producing a mezzanine or middle story—as also at the rear of the boys' school-room, where a sewing room is located over two recitation-rooms. The attic of this building, one room, 41 by 101 feet, is occupied as a dormitory by the female paupers, who serve the Institution as cooks, &c. The floor of this room is supported by the framing of the roof, leaving the fine school-room below quite unobstructed, as it otherwise would be, by columns and girders. The ventilating apparatus for the school-room is at once simple, neat and efficacious; this consists of two series of flues included within the thickness of the external walls, one series for the admission of cold air from a reservoir in the cellar, the other for the escape of vitiated air at the roof—the entrance to both from the rooms being protected by metallic plates perforated with numerous and small apertures; the reservoirs for pure air in the cellar are supplied by flues reaching to the top of the building. The building is comfortably warmed by two hot-air furnaces. The school-rooms are fitted with desks and other furniture, which are equal if not superior in point of neatness of finish and utility to those of any other school in the county, and which reflect the highest credit on the New-York Public School Society, at whose expense and under whose direction they were furnished.

Of the four other buildings on the front line, the two next adjacent ones, north and south, are each 33 by 90 feet, and three stories high, having verandahs eight feet wide on both sides of each story. The southerly one of these two buildings is occupied by the larger boys of the establishment, the other by the girls and smaller boys; they are precisely alike in their construction, the first story containing a dining-room, 31 by 70 feet, and ten feet high, a room for washing hands and bathing, and a kitchen for the Matron or Steward. Beneath this is a cellar for the hot-air furnace and fuel. In the second story is a dormitory, 31 by 70 feet, and eleven feet high, and two apartments for the officers of the institution. The third story is in one open room, a dormitory 31 by 94 feet, and eleven feet high. These buildings are ventilated and warmed in the same manner as the school-house. The apparatus for bathing and washing hands in the first story is original and complete; a circular tub, ten feet in diameter, is supplied with water, cold and warm at pleasure, and is thus used for bathing by a dozen of the children at once. They use the same tub for washing their hands and face; a leaden pipe coiled on the inside just below the top being perforated with apertures which discharge the water toward the centre of the tub, the children standing around, twenty or more at once, wash their faces with the water they catch in their hands as it flows from the pipe, thus dispensing with wash bowls, an infinite source of trouble and vexation in large public institutions. And what is of more vital importance, no two are permitted to wash in the same water, or even one to use the same water twice, which cannot be avoided by the old plan, to the great risk of the children's infecting each other with the ophthalmia, a dreadful scourge, which has destroyed the happiness and usefulness of so many children in former years at this and similar institutions. For this convenient and complete arrangement the institution is indebted to the experience and ingenuity of LINUS W. STEVENS, Esq., one of the gentlemen of the Building Committee, late President of the Board of Assistant Aldermen, and at the present time the Alderman of the Fifteenth Ward.

The two remaining buildings on the front line are similar in arrangement to the two just described, but they are of a smaller size, 33 by 55 feet each; the stories, however, are of the same height respectively as those of the other two. The most southerly of these two buildings is termed the Quarantine or Reception House; the other, which is the most northerly of the front line, is the Infants' House.

The two buildings in advance of those just described, are each 35 by 100 feet, two stories high. The southerly one is occupied by the larger boys, and the other by the girls and small boys. These two buildings were erected since the original ten, as a relief for the two dwellings next adjacent to the centre building; these latter two having been found insufficient to accommodate the large number of children of this class. The two newer buildings are nearly alike in their internal arrangement, each having in the first story a living room 33 by 77 feet, 12 feet high, and a dormitory in the second story of 33 by 73 feet, 11 feet high, and at the westerly end small apartments for the officers. A sewing room 17 by 33 feet, with wardrobes attached, occupies the westerly end of the first story of the northerly building, and a bathing tub 11 feet diameter, similar to those in the other dwellings, occupies the westerly end of the first story of the southerly building, and this building has a cellar for stores, 32 by 97 feet, 7 feet high.

The eighth building, situated 80 feet in the rear of the School House or centre building, is 30 by 60 feet and two stories high. This building is devoted to cooking, washing and ironing, on the first floor, and the second floor is used for a tailors' shop, and dormitory for adult male paupers—servants and boatmen. The floor of the first story is of stone flagging, and the three apartments in this story are entirely separated by brick walls. The apparatus for cooking and heating water for washing and scrubbing has attached to it nine kettles, six in one room and three in another, each 2½ feet diameter, and is all heated by one fire. This improved steam apparatus is the invention of Mr. Hatfield, the Architect of the buildings, and A. S. Bowen, Machinist. The advantages of this over other steam apparatuses for boiling, consist in the avoidance of a peculiar clattering racket—a very offensive noise incidental to the old method, and in the greater degree of heat produced; the inefficiency of the old plan to cook Indian meal mush thoroughly is fully overcome here by the superior amount of heat produced, which is quite sufficient not only for this purpose, but for roasting meat in the kettles. These kettles are conveniently arranged with pipes, to supply and discharge each at pleasure; and the waste steam from the cooking is not permitted to escape from the kettles into the room, but is conducted by copper pipes to the chimney. The wash room is fitted with a series of wash troughs, supplied and emptied at pleasure by leaden pipes.

The four remaining buildings compose the Hospital department of the establishment; they consist of two large Hospitals, one smaller building for a kitchen, and one for idiots. The two hospitals stand in front, 125 feet apart, and the kitchen is placed in the rear between these; the idiots' dwelling being still farther in the rear of the kitchen. The hospital kitchen is 25 by 60 feet, and two stories high, arranged and fitted with cooking and washing apparatus of the same description as in the larger kitchen above referred to, but of smaller capacity. The two hospitals are precisely alike, being each 36 by 60 feet, and three stories high, having verandahs 8 feet wide on both sides of each story inclosed with glass. In each of the two lower stories there are two wards or rooms 16½ by 34 feet, opening at each end on the verandahs, and in the third story another ward, 24 by 34 feet, also opening on the verandahs. In the first story of one building is the physician's office, and in the other building the matron's kitchen; there is also in each first story the same description of bathing apparatus as in the children's dwelling, and in addition thereto, the ordinary bathing tub and apparatus. In the second story are apartments also for the accommodation of the physicians and nurses. These buildings are also warmed and ventilated as those before described.

The twelfth building is termed the idiots' dwelling; it is 25 by 35 feet and two stories high, divided into two rooms on each floor, and with two flights of stairs, forming two distinct suits of apartments for males and females—the first story rooms being used as sitting-rooms, and the others as dormitories.

The buildings are supplied with Croton water brought to the island by a large and heavy leaden pipe, laid below the bed of the Harlem river; and a complete system of sewerage connected with the buildings removes all waste water, surface water and filth from the several buildings and outhouses into the river.

On the front of the school-house a marble tablet is thus lettered:

The original ten buildings were commenced by breaking ground on the 13th of August last, the corner stone laid on the 23d of September, and were completed and taken possession of by the children on the 17th of April, having being constructed in the short space of eight months and a few days. The entire cost of the ten buildings, including that of the apparatus for cooking, ventilation and warming, and of the plumbing work for the Croton water, as also the cost of grading the grounds, was $74,648 09. The two newer dwellings, under the supervision and direction of the Joint Committee on Charity and Alms, and of R. G. Hatfield, the Architect, were commenced in October, 1848, and are now being finished in February, 1849, at a cost of about $9,700. The Common Councils who have erected these buildings, deserve great credit for this judicious expenditure of the public money, and too much praise cannot be awarded to the gentlemen of the Building Committees for the assiduous attention and arduous labor which they have devoted to the work.

Introduction of the Croton Water upon Randal's Island.

The water is conveyed from the foot of One Hundred and Twenty-first-street across the Harlem river to Randal's Island, in a leaden pipe. The river at this point is about 600 feet wide and 32 feet deep in the channel; the bottom of the river was covered with boulders, and in one place a ledge of solid rock projected. A channel to receive the pipe was prepared, by removing the boulders and blasting this point of solid rock, about 14 feet under water, and excavating from one to three feet below the regular bottom of the river.

The lead pipe is in the inside three inches in diameter and eighth-tenths of an inch thick, made in lengths of 20 feet, and put together with a soldered joint, the solder being covered with a coating of lead three-fourths of an inch thick, so that nothing but a surface of lead is exposed to the action of the salt-water. The pipes were put together on the New-York shore, and cased in a timbered box bolted and trunnelled so as to prevent its being injured by drawing across the bottom of the river. About 150 feet was prepared in the first instance, when it was proved with a forcing pump, under a pressure of 300 pounds to the square inch; this was then drawn into the river by power from the other side, when another 150 feet was in like manner prepared and drawn in, and so on, until it was passed across the river, and was then covered with coarse gravel; the connection with the main pipe on both sides of the river are with brass reducers. Most of the work was of a new and novel character, and required a great deal of perseverance and patience to do it; the operation of the work has been entirely successful, and the supply from it is sufficient for 5,000 persons, and washes off all offal and refuse from the Nursery Buildings, which passes into the sewer from them.

The foregoing detail is given of the operations in effecting so important a result of furnishing an ample supply of Croton water to one of the most interesting institutions to which the distribution of the charities of this city are bestowed. The Nurseries, as the establishment is called, the inmates of which are children, left to the cold sympathies of the world, without friends or guardians; from which cause they are the peculiar objects of the care and protection of the city fathers. The city authorities have liberally and kindly provided for their health, comfort, and moral improvement in said institution.

Much credit is due to Mr. Peter Hastee, the Engineer, and Mr. Benj. M. Clarke, who had the special supervision of said work; together with the Joint Committees on Charity and Alms; and to the Chairman of said Committee.

The Joint Committee on Charity and Alms are as follows:

Penitentiary Hospital, Blackwell's Island.

In addition to many buildings already erected on this island, for public purposes, the Common Council has contracted for the erection of a building to be used as an hospital for the penitentiary. It is to be built of the stone that is quarried on the island, by the prisoners. The main building is to be 60 feet square and three stories high, with a basement and attic, with two wings each, to be 121 feet long and 50 feet wide, two stories high, with a basement, making in all 308 feet in length. The main building is intended for the use of the officers of the hospital and the necessary offices, apothecary's shop, store-rooms, &c.; the south east wing is to be occupied entirely by the female patients, and the west wing, on the first floor, for a male hospital, and on the second floor for a sewing room and general workshop for the female prisoners; the basement to be used for a wash-house and laundries for all the prisoners. Mr. Richard Calrow, Jr., is the contractor for the carpenter work, for the sum of $18,887, and Messrs. Samuel Strong and Bartlet Smith, for the mason work, for the sum of $17,500. Mr. James L. Miller is the architect and superintendent; the plans were executed by him and approved by the Medical Board of Physicians, and the Joint Committee on Public Buildings on Blackwell's Island, consisting of Aldermen Adams, Crolus, and Gray; Assistant Aldermen Miller, Clark, and Sutton, who have the general supervision of the building.

The Free Academy is situated at the corner of Lexington Avenue and Twenty-third-street, on a plot of ground 122 feet 6 inches by 200 feet. The cost of the building, including the site, is $73,000, and its dimensions are 125 feet by 80. It consists exclusive of the basement and great hall of three spacious stories, which are intersected by two inside passages, running at right angles through the middle of the building. It affords accommodation for about 1,000 scholars, and is in the style of the Gothic town halls of the Netherlands.

The institution is under the direction of the Board of Education, and was established for the purpose of extending the benefits of education gratuitously to those who have been pupils in the public and ward schools.

The Institution may be considered as resolving itself into three DEPARTMENTS, viz. :—the INTELLECTUAL, the DOMESTIC, and the MECHANICAL. The pupils are divided into eleven classes, under the instruction of as many professors and teachers. The object is to impart to the inmates of the establishment a good English education, by means of which they may be restored to the condition of a social existence.

In the domestic department there are an attending physician, a steward, a matron, and an assistant matron. The female pupils are under the immediate charge of the matron, whose careful attention is bestowed as well upon the formation of their manners, as upon suitable provision for the promotion of their comfort and happiness.

In the mechanical department a choice is offered between five different occupations, viz. :—bookbinding, cabinet-making, tailoring, shoemaking, and gardening. The male pupils are employed in the intervals of study and relaxation, from three to four hours daily, at some one of those occupations, under the superintendence of skilful workmen. The female pupils in the mean time are employed in learning to fold and sew books, in tailoring, dress making, plain sewing, or in light household affairs, with the proper management of which it is essential that they should become acquainted.

The number of pupils is 220, of whom 160 are supported by the state of New York; 16 by the Corporation of the city; 8 by the state of New-Jersey; 26 by their friends, and 10 by the Institution.

The Institution has no permanent funds, except its investment in buildings, but derives its income from state, county, and pay pupils, from donations, subscriptions, and legacies.

Those who wish to participate in the public provision made for the education of the indigent, must apply to the Superintendent of Common Schools, accompanied by a certificate from the Commissioner of the Alms House, or from the Overseers of the poor of the town in which they reside, and must be between the ages of twelve and twenty five.

The annual charge to those who support themselves is $130, which includes all expenses of every description, except those for clothing and travelling.

The time of admission is on the first Wednesday of September.

PLAN of the CITY OF NEW-YORK about 1804.

K. M.

Newspapers of greater size than 1,900 square inches, and all pamphlets, magazines, and periodicals, $2\frac{1}{2}$ cents for each copy of not more than one ounce weight, and one cent additional for each additional ounce, or fractional excess of not less than half an ounce, for any distance in the United States.

Any manuscript communication whatever, connected with a newspaper, pamphlet, &c., beyond the direction, makes the same liable to letter postage.

All printed or lithographed circulars and handbills, or advertisements, or quarto post, or single cap paper, or paper not larger than single cap folded, directed, and unsealed, 3 cents each, and must be prepaid, for any distance in the United States.

There are about 40,000 letters passing through the hands of the clerks daily, for City delivery, those sent out and for distribution to all parts of the United States, each one has to be stamped, bundled and mailed, and great care is required.

We send out about 80,000 papers daily, each one handled and principally received from editors for distribution; about 15,000 are also received for City delivery, and require to be boxed up or sent out by carriers.

The people generally have but a small idea of the amount of labor performed in the Post Office; a letter has to go through many hands before it reaches its destination; it frequently happens that letters are misdirected, and the Post Office blamed if they are not received.

We send about 20,000 dead Letters to the dead letter office at Washington each quarter; those containing money and mailed here, are returned to the proper owners if found.

The Post Office is never closed; clerks commence duty at 5 A. M., the year round, and are on duty until 7; they are then relieved by the night clerks.

THE WALTON HOUSE.

Pearl Street, New York.

(For D. T. Valentine's Manual.)

H. B. Robinson, Lith. at Park Row.

THE WALTON HOUSE,

Pearl-street, New-York.

[Taken from Volume IX. of the New-York Mirror.]

What citizen or stranger has ever passed through Franklin Square, in this city, without gazing with interest on an antiquated, large, three-story edifice, built in the English baronial style of the last century? It is called the "Walton House," because it was erected by an aristocratical Englishman of that name, nearly a century ago, and has ever since remained in the family. The entrance hall is in the centre of the building, with large, old-fashioned parlors and drawing-rooms on each side. The portal is in fine keeping with the style of architecture, which then distinguished the English patrician from the plebeians. The portico is supported by two fluted columns, and surmounted with the armorial bearings of the Walton family richly carved and ornamented; but, like all insignia of nobility on this side the Atlantic, somewhat the worse for wear. Were we conversant with the technics of heraldry, these arms should be described; but being totally ignorant of the mysteries of that profound science, we are not competent to the task. The pride of ancestry is a kind of pride of which we know nothing, although we have read much; and so long as we know that our grandfather did his duty in the revolutionary war, and received a certificate of approbation from Washington, we are not ashamed of him, and feel quite indifferent whether he inherited "the blood of all the Howards," or whether one of his remote progenitors actually turned the spit which sustained the goose which fed the queen when she heard the news of her foe's defeat on Shrove Tuesday.

The Walton House is now No. 326 Pearl-street, in the midst of a most dense population; but, when it was first erected, there was but one building on that side of the street, between Peck Slip and the commencement of Cherry-street. The diagonal junction of the latter with Pearl-street, then created an acute point of land, which now constitutes Franklin Square. At the period to which we allude, there were not half a dozen buildings in Pearl-street, north of Franklin Square. For many years afterward, that region, comprising at present the populous streets called Roosevelt, James, Oliver, Catherine, and Oak, together with Batavia-lane, was an impassable bog, denominated "Swamp Meadow," being almost wholly covered with stagnant water, holding communication with the Collect by a stream which crossed Chatham-street.

That section of the city which is still called the "Swamp," extending from Beekman to Frankfort-street, was then literally a swamp, being a wet, boggy waste, covered with trees and bushes, where wild birds built their nests and laid their eggs, as they fondly thought, far from the invasion of wicked school-boys, who learned their ab, abs, somewhere in Broad-street. Here, also, did sportsmen resort for game; here did whole herds of swine, not then employed as city scavengers, earn their own living by rooting up roots and ground nuts; and here were luscious blackberries, far more plenty than satisfactory reasons for winding Pearl-street round the margin of this quagmire. The natural course of Pearl-street from Peck Slip, is Cherry-street. But the whole city (modern improvements always excepted) is a labyrinth—a puzzle—a riddle—incomprehensible to philosophers of the present day.

This family dwelling-house was, in its day—indeed, still is—a noble specimen of English architecture a century ago. It is a brick edifice, 50 feet in front, and three stories high, built with Holland bricks, relieved by brown stone water-tables, lintels, and jams, with walls as substantial as many modern churches, standing along the south side of Pearl-street, formerly called Queen-street. The superb staircase in its ample hall, with its mahogany hand-rails and bannisters, by age as dark as ebony, would not disgrace a nobleman's palace. It is the only relic of the kind that probably at this period remains in the city, the appearance of which affords an air of grandeur not to be seen in the lighter staircases of modern buildings.

This venerable mansion is one of the very few remaining in uninterrupted succession in the family of the original proprietor. It was erected in 1754, by William Walton, Esq., who lived and died a bachelor, and bequeathed by him to his nephew, the late Honorable William Walton, whose son, advanced in years, now occupies the premises. The family of Walton, of English ancestry, is one of the most respectable of this city; we know not whether allied to the Reverend Izaak Walton, of angling memory, whose delectable treatise on the subject will be read and esteemed by amateurs of the rod, line, and hook, as long as waters flow and trout swim. The first William was distinguished by the appellation of Boss Walton, by way of pre-eminence. The title is Dutch, and given even now by apprentices and subordinates to their principals and superiors.

Boss Walton was a merchant and resided in Hanover Square. He acquired an ample fortune by an advantageous contract with some Spaniards of St. Augustine, which enabled him to build by far the most expensive, capacious, and elegant house at that period in New-York. When the foundation was laid, his fellow-citizens all wondered that he should choose a site so far out of town, it being then almost at the eastern extremity of the city, but at the present time it is considerably west of the centre, between the Battery and Corlaer's-hock. This edifice was the pride and admiration of our plain citizens of former days—and children, as the writer of this article well remembers, as an incentive to good behaviour through the week, were treated with a walk on Saturday afternoon, to see and admire Boss Walton's fine house.

Boss Walton was very hospitable, and gave, as he could well afford, the most sumptuous entertainments of any person in those plain but bountiful days. At the termination of the old and last French war with this country, in 1759, (which was crowned by the conquest of Canada, whereby the British colonies in America, and especially the province of New-York, were relieved from the incursions and aggressions of the French, and the dreadful terrors and sufferings by the tomahawk and scalping knife of their savage allies, the Indians,) every demonstration of joy was evinced by the good citizens of Albany and New-York.

The British army, on its return from Canada, was hailed and treated with the most profuse prodigality. Among others, Boss Walton entertained the chief officers, in a magnificent manner. His table was spread with the choicest viands, and a forest of decanters, sparkling with the most delicious wines. The sideboard groaned with the weight of brilliant, massive silver—none of your tinsel, superficial, plated ware, that dazzles and mock the eyes of modern times.

After the peace of 1763, the English Parliament manifested its intention of taxing the colonies, for the purpose of refunding the debt incurred by the recent war. The colonies had no objections to paying their liberal quota of the expenses, but wished to do it in their own way, through the medium of their own legislatures, which were best acquainted with the circumstances of the people, and remonstrated against "taxation without representation;" pleading, moreover, that the colonists, harassed by long and sanguinary wars, were poor and exhausted—which was the fact. The plea, however, was rebutted in Parliament, by an appeal to the elegant entertainments given by the citizens of New-York to the officers of the British army, and the dazzling display of silver plate at their dinners, equal, if not superior, to any nobleman's,—which hospitality and exhibitions were adduced as proofs of the wealth and prosperity of the colonies. But every colonist was not a Boss Walton—the generality of our merchants and citizens were humble, but not indigent. Remonstrances were vain—the ministry persisted—the stamp act, duties on teas, &c., were soon enacted, which led to discontent and riots, and opposition to the mother-country ensued.

The Boston port bill and reinforcement of British soldiers in that town followed, which led to the battles of Lexington and Bunker Hill, the Declaration of Independence, and a seven year's war, that ultimately terminated in its acknowledgment by the British king, and the emancipation of these United States from foreign thralldom and subjugation. Long may they exist, free from domestic strife, and in their present happy enjoyment of civil and religious liberty!

FEDERAL HALL.

The City Hall, called, after 1789, "Federal Hall," was situated at the head of Broad street, fronting on Wall street, (where the Custom House now stands.) Its lower story formed an open arcade over the foot pavement. It was erected in 1700, the Common Council having in 1698 voted to build the new City Hall for £3000, and in 1699 sold the ancient "Stadt Huys," a stone building which stood at the head of Coenties Slip, on Pearl street, which was built under the Dutch dynasty, in 1642. This old City Hall was sold to John Rodman for £920.

At the City Hall, or Federal Hall, in Wall street, were held the Sessions of the Common Council, the Provincial Assembly, the Supreme Court, and the Mayor and Admiralty Courts; it was also the place of Elections. It was finally altered to accommodate the Sessions of the Congress of the United States, and such as it then was has been preserved in an engraving done by Tiebout in 1789, and in the drawing by Holland, from which our engraving was taken. It had been used also as the City Prison, but the prisoners were, in 1789, removed to the then "New Jail," in the Park.

Congress having decided to remove the seat of the National Government to Philadelphia, Federal Hall was again altered to receive the Courts and the Legislature of the State. The latter held their Sessions here until the Capitol was established at Albany, in 1797.

Watson, in his "Annals of New-York," says,—It is curious respecting the City Hall, that it was originally constructed on the site and out of the materials of a stone bastion, in the line of the wall of defence along Wall street; and after it was built it is on record, that it was ordered that it be embellished with the arms of the King and the Earl of Bellamont, which, when done, the Corporation ordered that the latter should be taken down and broken.

The British, while they occupied the City during the Revolutionary War, used the City Hall as the place of the main guard; at the same time they plundered and broke up the Public Library then contained in one of its chambers.

The best style of appearance of the Federal Hall was on the occasion of its being fitted up for the First Congress under the Constitution, which was done by order of the Common Council, under the direction of Major L'Enfant, a distinguished Architect and Engineer. It was in its gallery on Wall street, April 30, 1789, that General Washington was inaugurated first President of the United States. This interesting public ceremony, the administration of the oath of office to the President by Chancellor Livingston, took place in the open gallery in front of the Senate Chamber, in view of an immense concourse of citizens. The doors, windows and roofs of every house in the vicinity at the same time were thronged with spectators.

The building stood about 110 years, having been taken down in 1813, when the site was sold by the Corporation to individuals for dwellings and stores.

Description of the Building.

The following description of Federal Hall, as it appeared after the alterations made for the accommodation of Congress in 1789, is from Morse's Geography, Edition of 1802:—

The most magnificent edifice in this City is Federal Hall, situated on the N. E. side of Wall street, fronting Broad street, where it appears to great advantage. The basement story is Tuscan, and is pierced with seven openings; four massive pillars in the centre support four Doric columns and a pediment. The frieze is ingeniously divided, to admit thirteen stars in metopes; these, with the American Eagle, and other insignia in the pediment, and the tablets over the windows filled with the thirteen arrows and the olive branch united, mark it as a building designated for national purposes. After entering from Broad street, we find a plainly finished square room, flagged with stone, and to which the citizens have free access; from this we enter the vestibule in the centre of the pile, which leads in front to the floor of the Representatives' Room, or Real Federal Hall, and through two arches, on each side, by a public stair-case on the left, and by a private one on the right, to the Senate Chamber and lobbies. This vestibule is paved with marble—is very lofty and well finished; the lower part is of a light rustic, which supports a handsome iron gallery; the upper half is in a lighter style, and is finished with a sky-light of about 12 by 18 feet, which is decorated with a profusion of ornaments in the richest taste. The Representatives' Room is a spacious and elegant apartment, sixty-one feet deep, fifty-eight wide, and thirty-six high, a covered ceiling of about ten feet high not included. This room is of an octangular form; four of its sides are rounded in the manner of niches, and give a graceful variety to the whole. The windows are large, and placed sixteen feet from the floor; all below them is finished with plain wainscot, interrupted only by four chimnies; but above these a number of Ionic columns and pilasters, with their proper entablature, are very judiciously disposed, and give great elegance. In the pannels between the windows trophies are carved, and the letters U. S. in a cypher surrounded with laurel. The Speaker's Chair is opposite the great door, and raised by several steps; the chairs for the members are ranged semicircularly, in two rows in front of the Speaker. There are two galleries for the accommodation of spectators.

On the left of the vestibule is a lobby, 19 by 48 feet, finished with Tuscan pilasters. This leads to the Senate Chamber, which is forty feet long, thirty wide, and twenty high, with an arched ceiling. It has three windows in front, and three back. Those in front open into a gallery twelve feet deep, guarded by an elegant iron railing. In this gallery our beloved late President Washington, attended by the Senate and the House of Representatives, took his oath of office in the face of Heaven, and in the presence of a large concourse of people assembled in front, at the commencement of the operation of the Federal Constitution.

The Senate Chamber is decorated with pilasters, of an order invented by Major L'Ensaut, the Architect, which have a magnificent appearance. The marble which is used in the chimnies is American; and for beauty of shades and polish is equal to any of its kind in Europe. Besides these, there are several other rooms for use and convenience; a library, lobbies and committee-rooms above, and guard rooms below. The building, on the whole, does much credit to the ingenuity and abilities of the architect. Since the removal of Congress, for whose accommodation it was thus ornamented, it has been occupied by the State Legislature, and by the Courts.

OLDEN TIME IN NEW-YORK.

Early City Settlement.

After the Dutch had got permission of the natives to build a fort on the island of New-York, in the year 1623, they made it in the form of a regular square, with four bastions, on a point of land at the entrance of the North and East Rivers, where the Government house is now built. At different periods, this fort has been strengthened by making the wall of stone thicker, with first one, and then another wall, outside of the first wall. The Dutch Director General and the Commandant, besides the other officers, had houses within the fort; and in 1642, a church was built in the south-east corner. The church and houses were burnt down in 1741. It had the Secretary's office over the gate. The church was not rebuilt, but the houses and barracks were, and the Governor's house was burnt down again in 17—, rebuilt in 17—, and again burnt down in 17—; after which, it was not rebuilt.

In 1765, Governor Colden, who resided in the fort, intending to receive into the same, and protect the stamp papers expected hourly from England, took into the fort Major James, and by his directions had the rampart of the fort prepared for defence or offence against the inhabitants, by forming embrasures of cord wood and dirt, and placing cannon in the same.

When the house in the fort was burnt down, and the troops were removed out of the same, the inhabitants dismantled the fort, and pulled down to the ground the north curtain, which faced Broadway; and in 1790-'91, the fort was entirely demolished, and the stones sold or made use of to build the Government House. The ground was all levelled, so that no trace remains of the old fort, or where it stood. When they were removing the ruins of the old church, or chapel, several vaults were discovered. In one of them was found the remains of the Lady of Lord Bellamont, in a leaden coffin.

The first fort was built back of the old Lutheran Church, or rather a little lower down. As the ground round about the fort was improved as a garden belonging to the States General, the second was built at the point of land.

After this fort was built by the Dutch, the persons who came over from Holland to settle in America, for the purpose of trading with the natives for furs, &c., and who could not reside in the fort, built houses under the walls of the fort, and formed the first street, which they called Pearl-street. From time to time, as they grew in numbers, and formed friendly intercourse with the natives, they increased the extent of the city, which must have contained a number of houses and streets in 1686.

The Dutch, in imitation of what was done in Holland, built dykes in Broad-street, as far up as the City Hall, as posts were found standing about ten or twelve feet from the houses on each side of the way, not long ago, when the street was new paved. The city was enclosed with a wall or pallisades, about the year 16—, from the Trinity Church, across Wall-street to the East River.

In 1744, it had pallisades, with block houses, surrounding it from river to river, from near the air furnace, to the ship yard, at the edge of what was called the meadows, on the west side.

Not long before this, the water out of the fresh water, or kollock, ran down to both rivers; to the north by a ditch, and to the east by a small rivulet, which increased so wide as to require a log to be laid across, to walk on. On the hill, near the river, was a wind-mill. Some years before this, there was a wind mill between what was called Crown-street and Court-land-street.

Here it was, that, not 40 years ago, the Indians still residing in the lower part of this state, at particular seasons of the year, came to the city, and took up their residence near them, until they had disposed of their poultry, brooms, shovels, trays, and baskets. I have seen, in 1746, wheat growing, where now St. Paul's Church is built, and then there was not twenty houses from Division-street to fresh water. I have seen, in 1744, and after, several Indian canoes one after another, come down the East and North Rivers, and land their cargoes in the basins near the long bridge, and take up their residence in the yard and storehouse of Adolphus Phillips, where they generally made up their baskets and brooms, as they could better bring the rough materials with them than ready made baskets and brooms. They brought with them, if they came from Long Island, a quantity of dried clams, strung on sea-grass or straw, which they sold, or kept for their own provisions, besides the flesh of the animals they killed.

Clams, oysters, and fish meat, have formed the principal food, together with squashes and pumpkins, of the natives of the lower part of the state. Those who resided in the upper part, besides the fish of the rivers, wild water-fowl, and animals of different kinds, Indian corn, squashes and pumpkins, at particular times in the spring were visited with such amazing flights of wild pigeons, that the sun was hid by their flocks from shining on the earth for a considerable time; then it was that the natives laid in a great store of them against a day of need, by killing and drying them in the sun, or smoking them over a fire, and afterward packing them up in casks made of old hollow trees. The method they took to kill them, was only to go among the trees where they roosted at night, and beat them down with poles.

In 1640, the Director-General, William Kieft, having command, there came to him a Scotchman, with an English commission, and laid a claim to Long Island, which was rejected, and he went off again without doing anything except setting up the common people against the Dutch Government. A meeting on the subject was held by the English residents at Oyster Bay, but they were soon quelled by Kieft.

In 1647, there came over a Scotchman, called Captain Forrester, who laid claim to Long Island for the Duchess Dowager Sterling, pretending to be her governor. He had a commission dated in the 18th year of the reign of King James, which was not signed by the king or any one else. This man was very proud and haughty, and demanded a sight of Governor Stuyvesant's commission, saying, that if the governor's commission was better than his, he would go off, or else, Stuyvesant should; but the governor, after taking a copy of his patent, sent him with the ships bound to Holland, but they were obliged to land him in England.

INTERESTING SELECTIONS

OLDEN TIMES.

In 1724 King's College was founded, and in 1787, by an Act of the Legislature, it was called Columbia College, and put under the care of twenty-four gentlemen, who are a body corporate, by the name and style of the Trustees of Columbia College, in the City of New-York.

The first law which mentions anything relating to the establishment of an Alms House, and the maintenance of the poor, was passed Sept. 26th, 1693. It is entitled, an act for settling a Ministry, and raising a maintenance for them, in the City of New-York, Counties of Richmond, Westchester and Queens; one good minister for each. It is enacted, among other things, that there shall be ten Vestrymen and two Churchwardens chosen every year by the Freeholders, on the second Tuesday of January, who shall lay a reasonable tax on said respective Cities, Counties, Parishes or precincts, for the maintenance of the ministers and poor of their respective places.

Stamp Act.

In 1765, when the Stamp papers were expected from England, Governor Colden resided in the fort, and, intending to receive and protect them there, he placed Major James, a British officer, to fortify the same. The Stamp paper was landed, under the protection of a man-of-war, commanded by Captain Kennedy. Previous to this Gov. Colden had ordered all the cannon on the Battery to be spiked. This, and the preparations in the fort, alarmed, but did not intimidate, the people, who, after parading through the street with a wooden 32-pounder, on which was placed a figure representing the Governor, carried it to the fort, and demanded the stamps; these being refused, they took the Governor's coach, sled, &c., out of his stable, and burnt them before the fort, and a party went to the house of Major James, the contents of which were brought out, and destroyed by fire. This, however, did not satisfy the people; and had it not been for some moderate persons, the fort would have been stormed, and, consequently, much blood spilt. The people were only pacified by the Governor delivering the Stamp papers to the Corporation of the City.

The inhabitants, therefore, were not sorry when the house in the fort burnt down, for they got the Provincial Congress to issue orders that the fort should be dismantled, and, accordingly, the north curtain was entirely taken away. The British did not think proper to rebuild it again during the war; stockades only were put up instead of a stone wall, with a few troops left in the fort.

The Fort.

After the war, and when the Americans got possession of the city, it was not thought proper to repair the fort again, as it was wished that the inhabitants might never again be intimidated by it, as they had been twice before: once in the time of Jacob Liesler, when the town was actually fired upon; one of the balls struck the house of Jacobus Van Cortlandt, at that time one of the Council, and is masoned in the wall fronting the fort, in Dock street; and afterwards by Governor Colden, 1765. A resolution was passed by the Assembly to remove the ruins of the fort, and make use of the stones, &c., in building a Government house; and, accordingly, in 1791 no trace of it remained.

When Nichols took the fort from the Dutch, it was by him called Fort James, instead of Fort New Amsterdam.

When Henry Slaughter was Governor, in 1691, it was called Fort William Henry.

When Lord Cornbury was Governor, in 1702, it was called Port Ann.

Upon the accession of King George to the throne, its name was changed to Fort George, which it retained until destroyed; and, as it is now gone, unless some account be kept of it, after some years it may not be known where it stood, or any description of it be obtained; and this has induced me to give its history.

Population, &c.

It appears, when Thomas Dale and Robert Argol took the first fort, there were but four houses without the same inhabited by the Dutch; and when New-York was taken by Nichols, in 1665, in a letter to the Duke of York he writes: "That such is the mean condition of this town (New-York.) that not one soldier to this day has lain in sheets, or upon any other bed than straw." In 1686 there were only 354 men and women, and 762 children, belonging to the Dutch church.

Those who remained in the country built their houses under the guns of the fort at first, for protection; therefore Pearl-street was the first street I find by an account in my possession; that in 1686 there were 16 streets in the city, namely, Broadway, Pearl, High, Low, Brewer, or Stone, Prince, King, Exchange, New, Bever, Markvelt, Bridge, Broad, Smith, Dock and Smith's Valley, or Vley, now Queens-street.

Many British subjects must have come over and settled here, as appears from the names of some of the streets. I find, by a census taken of the inhabitants of New-York in 1697, there were

Whites	3727
Colored	575

Allowing eight to a house, there must have been about 500 houses at this time. By an account taken in 1678, there were 343 houses, containing 3430 inhabitants, or ten to a house. To see the amazing increase of the city, I have collected the following account of inhabitants and houses at different periods:—

Coasters not included, except in 1744.

From Dec. 9, 1755, to Feb. 23, 1756, the quantity of flaxseed exported was 12,528 hdds.

From Sept. 29, 1749, to Sept. 29, 1750, there were entered from Great Britain and Ireland 21 vessels; cleared for Holland 5 vessels; cleared out, 6731 tons of provisions, chiefly flour and grain.

Imported 800 pipes of Madeira wine, and exported 226 pipes; cleared 2008 barrels of tar, 156 of pitch; twenty of which were imported from the Carolinas.

In 1678, entered not above 15 vessels, of an average of 100 tons each, of which 5 small ships and a ketch did not belong to New-York, and four of them were built here.

Taxes, Fortifications, &c.

In 1703 the Assembly voted £1500 towards erecting two batteries, one on each side of the Narrows. They were never built; Governor Cornbury receiving the money, and never accounting for the same.

For raising the above sum, the Assembly came to the following curious resolutions, to wit:—

That every person having the honor to be of her Majesty's Council
pay a year	£2 0 0
Every representative	1 0 0
Every one wearing a periwig.....	5 6
Every bachelor above 25.....	2 6
Every freeman from 16 to 60.....	9
Every freeman for each slave from 16 to 60.....	1 0

I find that the tax on wigs must have been collected, as it brought in a year, by the treasurer's account, £9 17s. 5d., and from 1732 to '34, £26 3s. 2d. At this time wigs were much in fashion, especially among the Dutch.

In 1734, Commissioners were appointed to build a half moon battery, near Whitehall; and, after it was finished, in trying the guns, one of them burst, and killed two persons. This battery could mount 70 guns.

In 1741, the Province received a donation from the Crown of 106 cannon, from three to 32-pounders, with all the implements necessary thereto, and 100 muskets complete, besides powder and other articles, amounting to £6773 15s. 8d.

A battery, or bastion, was also voted this year to be built on the flat rock back of the fort.

In 1744, a battery of eight guns was built at Red Hook.

In 1745, they voted to build four batteries, and stockade the City from river to river, along the meadows, to fresh water, and so to Dominick's Brook—eight guns.

1 do. Desbrosses.

1 do. on Captain Rutgers's wharf—eight guns.

1 do. on Benjamin Peck's wharf—six guns.

At a small distance from each other, block houses were built along palli-sades, which were fitted up on the inside to about three feet, and loop holes made for muskets.

After the half-moon battery was taken away, a battery was built from Whitehall, opposite to the north corner of the fort, according to a plan by Mr. John Dice, who was overseer of the works. The battery could mount 92 guns.

Just before the last war with Britain, or in 1775-6, the batteries were repaired, and a fort, called Independence, built on a hill near the house of Mr. Nicholas Bayard. It had a most commanding prospect, was built of sods and earth, and had a ditch round, with a magazine under ground, and houses slightly built for the defenders of the fort; yet, upon the whole, it was more for show than real service, having no water, nor any defence against bombs.

In 1776, the pavement opposite the Slips was taken up, and bulwarks of planks and dirt raised across them. These were also more for show than use, as there were yet many places unfortified where the British could land. Such was the state of our fortifications in 1776, until an order was issued by General Washington, with the concurrence of the Provincial Congress, to remove the cannon out of the City, and to dismantle the fortifications. Some of the cannon went by water to Albany, some to Kingston, and others were left behind.

The Militia of the whole State in 1678, (including 140 horses,) were about 2000; 1692, not above 3000; 1688, above 2500, horse 300, dragoons 50—2850; 1756, Militia of the City, about 2300 men.

From New-York Council Minutes.—Vol. 8.

AT A COUNCIL HELD AT FORT WILLIAM HENRY,

This sixth day of february, 1698,

P'sent—His Excellency RICHARD EARL OF BELLAMONT, etc.

Captain JOHN NASSAN, Lieutenant-Governor.

Stephen Cortlandt,

Samuel Staats,

Abm. de Peyster,

Robert Walton, Esquires.

The rest out of Town.

His Excellency having sent for the Mayor and Aldermen of the city of New York, and they attending without, he acquainted the Comcell that he had two severall Informations of Seditious words uttered and spoke by Alderman Jacobus van Cortlandt, at two severall times, the substance whereof he delared to them in short, and then ordering the said Mayor and Aldermen to be called in, his Excellency spoke to them to this purpose (viz):

That he did much wonder, and was troubled to hear one of their body had spoke very Seditious words at several times, one whereof was at a Committee of Comon Comcell, where it being proposed that a Town-house should be built for the accomodation of the Assembly of the Province, and of the Courts of Justice, and it being debated what part of the Town would be most proper and Comodious for the same to be built in, the said Cortlandt Excepted against its being built on the upper end of the Broad street in this City, (which had been agreed to by the Major part of the said Committee), saying, that was too high a part of the Town for the Town-house to be built in, for that it would be too much under the awe of the flort, that an Assembly could have no freedom of debate where they were lyable to have the house beat down about their eares from the flort. Then Mr. Alderman Lewis and Captain Byrang, one of the Comon Councell being called upon by his Lordship, did declare before the said Cortlandt, that he had sayd the foregoing words in their hearing. Then his Lordship, addressing himself to the said Alderman van Cortlandt, sayd it was a surprize to him to find, that a Magistrate, who had so lately sworn fidelity to the King was guilty of such Reflective seditious words tending to withdraw the Affections of the People from the King; flor what could be more disloyall than the uttering such words to possess the people that the King was capable of making warr on his Subjects by Invading their just rights and Liberties. Was it because his Majesty, in his whole Administration, has shewed a greater tendernes in the rights and Liberties of his People than perhaps any one of his predecessors ever did?

Then his Lordship told the said Alderman van Cortlandt he had another accusation against him, and thereupon produced a deposition of Francis Wessells, sworn before the Mayor, which Imported his discouraging the said Wessells from giving his Vote for Mr. Graham, the Attorney Generall at this next Election of Assemblymen, for that the said Mr. Graham would be for settling the Revenue in the Crown, and that Mr. Staats, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Walters, had promised the Governor to confirm the Revenue, and to pay a Contribution of four or five hundred pounds per annum towards his support in the Boston Government.

His Lordship also told the said Alderman van Cortlandt that he could procure other Evidences of his going about the Town, and telling people that they must not give their votes for such Assemblymen as would continue the Revenue, for that it was the Governor's design to p'vaile with the Assembly to settle the Revenue for ever. His Lordship asked the said Alderman with what confidence he could suggest such malicious Lyes and Stories, and that surely he could not p'tend to passe for an honest man after reporting such manifest Lyes. Then his Lordship did before the Councell and Mayor and Aldermen Challenge any man to say that he had ever bespoke the settling the Revenue for ever or in any manner whatsoever, and he did there declare his Resolution of proposing to the Assembly when they should meet the settling a Revenue for the support of the Government for such a term of yeares as they should judge proper, for he said it was agreeable to the Constitution of Parliaments or Assemblies that the granting a Revenue or subsidies of the Crown did allwayes arise from the Representatives of the People.

Mr. Alderman van Cortlandt then went about to excuse himself by saying that he Thought he migat Lawfully oppose the settlement of a Revenue, that this Province might be eased of that Burthen as well as its neighbours. But his Lordship told him that was no Argument, for that the King had been and still is at a charge in Protecting this Province in mainteining four hundred men and a man of Warr for their defence, which, with other charges, his Lordship did believe did amount to fourteen or fifteen thousand pounds p. An', over and above the Revenue of this Province, and bidd him consider that in all Countries in the world a prince's protection of his people is ever attended with a Revenue to support his Crown and Dignity as the most proper and adequate Return they can make him for his protection of them. Then the Mayor and Aldermen were desyred to withdraw; and his Lordship desiring to be advised by the Councell what course were best to be taken with the said Alderman Jacobus van Cortlandt—it was agreed that he should be required to enter into Recognizance in five hundred pounds to appeare at the next Sup'me Court; and the Mayor and Aldermen being again called in, his Lordship acquainted them that the Gentlemen of the Councell as well as himself thought that the said Alderman Cortlandt ought to be prosecuted at Law for the seditious words he has spoke upon the two severall occasions before mentioned, and his Lordship directed Judge Guest (the Attorney Generall being in the Countrey upon the King's service, and there being no Councell for the King), who was there p'sent, to take the said Alderman's Recognizance in the same aforesaid, and to observe the proper and Legal method in soe doing.

The said Alderman Cortlandt said it was a severity that he should be prosecuted for words Innocently spoken; to which his Lordship made answer, he would have a fair Tryall by his Countrey, who would be the proper Judges, whether the words were Innocent or no, and that his Lordship had been a Long time made acquainted with the Licentious Liberty the factious part of this Towne took in Reflecting on the Government, which he knew proceeded from the Inveterate malice of a few ill men, whom he knew, and could prove were disaffected to the p'sent Government of England, and could not Endure a Governor that would keep them to the observance of English Laws; that for his Lordship's part he had obeyed the King's Instructions in all the Steps of his Administration, and those Instructions were made to squire with the Laws, and therefore having acted by such a Rule, he did little value the Excesses and Licentious talk of factious people.

THE EARLY HISTORY

OF SOME OF THE

STREETS OF NEW-YORK.

Pearl-street.

This street was originally the water line of the East River. Old Maps.

1654.—The first wharf in this city was built by Daniel Dutch Records.
Litschoe, tavern-keeper, "on the strand." It was near the foot of Broad-street 1656.—The part of the street west of Broad-street was named "Perel-straat." East of Broad-street was named "Hoogh-straat." Ib.

1665.—The street contained 61 buildings.

1695.—This street was built upon as far as Maiden Lane, and soon after the accession of Queen Anne, was named Queen-street, which name it retained until after the Revolution, when the present name was given to it. Map and Records.

The first City Hall was erected upon this street, at the head of Coenties Slip. It was sold in 1699 to John Rodman for £920. English Records.

1691.—A ducking-stool for the punishment of offenders, constructed in front of the City Hall. Ib.

"All the land on the water side, from the block house to the hill next to Mr. Beekman's," was sold in lots in 1692. Ib.
Those from the block house, (now Wall-street,) to the Green Lane, (now Maiden Lane,) were valued at 25 shillings per foot. From the Green Lane to Mrs. Van Clyff's, (now John-street,) at 18 shillings per foot. From Mrs. Van Clyff's to Mr. Beekman's, (Beekman street,) at 15 shillings per foot.

In 1728, the Custom House stood on north side of this street, about the middle of the block between Broad and Whitehall-street. Map.

In 1735, an ordinance was passed to stake and lay out the high road from the gate at the end of Queen-street to the other road at fresh water, (Chatham street,) as the same were laid out by act of 1707. The breadth to be four rods. English Records.

Some years after the Revolution, the present name was given to this street. Ib.

Whitehall-street.

- Dutch Records. This street was named by the Dutch, in 1656, Winckel-Street, or the shop-street. It was first paved in 1658.
- English Records. At the foot of this street, in 1695, was the Whitehall Battery of 15 guns, from which the name of this street was derived.

Exchange Place.

- English Records, 1692. Formerly Varlett's Hill and Garden-street. A Dutch Calvinist Church was erected on this street in 1692, occupying grounds 180 feet in front, which was purchased for £180. The site of which church is now between William and Broad-streets. After the erection of the Dutch Church, the name Church-street was applied to this portion of the street.
- English Records. 11th June, 1697. "Application of Col. Nicholas Bayard that the Church-street may be laid out, he having ground there on which he designs to build; ordered that the City Surveyors lay out the said street as may be most convenient for the church and the inhabitants of the same."
- Map. 1728.—The street was again called Garden-street.

Beekman-street.

- Dutch Records. In 1656 William Beekman applied to the town magistrates stating that certain persons claimed a right of way through his farm, and he requested that they might be called upon to show their title. These claimants stated that their cattle, with those of their neighbors, were herded every year on the Commons (at present the Park), and that there had been a right of way there before their time. This early record shows a public way nearly if not on the present line of Beekman street in 1656.
- English Records. Beekman street was first laid out as a street, regulated and paved, in 1750.
- Ib. The Episcopal Church (St. George's) was built about the year 1750.
- Ib. "Petition of Presbyterian churchmen for a grant of the angular piece of ground to the north-eastward of the vineyard, and opposite the old wind mill spot," which was allowed, and a perpetual lease given at £40 per annum, 1766. Upon this ground the brick Presbyterian Church in Beekman street was erected.
- Ib. At an early period Mr. Beekman's farm was in this neighborhood, and his orchard adjoined the swamp, or "cripple bush," as it was sometimes called. "Beekman swamp," which is now covered by Ferry and adjacent streets, was sold, in 1734 to Jacobus Roosevelt for £200.

The Bowling Green.

- Dutch Records. Ordinance of 1659.—"It is found good and resolved, that for all fat cattle brought to the market (not slaughtered) posts shall be erected by the side of the church,* where those who bring such cattle to market for sale shall present them.

"It is also resolved, that shambles be built, a cover be made, and a block brought in, and that the key be given to Audries, the baker, who shall keep oversight of the same."

Ordinance of 1676.—"A Market Fair is ordered for three years ensuing, to be held in this city, att the marktett house and plaine afore the Forte, to be held each Thursday, Friday and Saturday" English Records.

In 1728 this place was called "the Parade."

Resolution of 1732.—"Resolved, that this Corporation will leave a piece of land lying at the lower end of Broadway, fronting the Fort, to some of the Inhabitants, in order to be enclosed to make a Bowling Green there, with walks therein, for the beauty and ornament of said street, as well as for the delight of the Inhabitants of this city." Map.
English Records.

John Chambers, Peter Bayard and Peter Jay, were the lessees for 11 years at 1 pepper corn per annum.

Broad-street

Was originally a marshy piece of ground, through which a drain was made after the settlement of the town by the Dutch. And this drain was called the "graft," or canal. After the erection of dwellings on each side it was called the "Heere graft," or the Principal Drain, which name was given by Ordinance of 1656. Dutch Records,

This was the first street paved in the city, by Ordinance of 1655. Ib.

The drain was in 1657 sided with boards stuck endwise into the ground to prevent the caving of its banks, which occurred after high tides. Ib.

In March, 1659, R. Waldron was made the "officer of the graft," with directions "to see that the newly-made graft was kept clean and in good condition, and that the boats, canoes and other vessels which came into it were laid in order." Ib.

The landing place for vessels was at the mouth of this inlet; with reference to which, the following petition was presented in 1658:—

TO THE HIGH HONOURABLE LORDS, THE GENERAL AND COUNCILLORS OF NEW-NETHERLANDS.

Great and honourable lords:—

It is respectfully represented by the Burgomasters and Schepens of the city of N. Amsterdam, that much inconvenience arises to the citizens of this city at this time from the condition of the floating way at the bridge, where they have before this landed with little trouble their wares and merchandize, and could with facility load and unload the vessels which came thereto. Now, whereas, the petitioners ex-officio are bound to be mindful and careful of the best interests of the citizens and inhabitants—therefore they do request your Lordships to consent in order to the accommodation of said citizens and inhabitants and the merchants, that they may make a "hoist," by which the yachts, sloops and schooners can be easily laden and unladen: Furthermore, that they may appoint such prices as fees in regard to the same as your Lordships may think best.

Dutch Records. The inhabitants of this street in 1665 were Cornelis Melyn, Ambrosius de Weerham, Teunis Kray, Symon Janzen Romein, Lucas Dirckzen, Bartholdus Maan, Stoffel Van Lier, Claas Pauluzen, Nicolaas Verbrueck, Pieter Winsten, Coornadt Ten Eyck, David Wessels, Aaght Jans (widow of P. Van Naarden,) Nicolaas du Puys, Jozhim Beeckman, Jacobus Backer, Albert Reminck, Symon Felle, Adrian Vincent, Teunis Davidts.

English Records. A market house was erected "under the trees near the Bridge," in 1677. Soon after which date the street was named Broad street.

Ib. A market house was built in Broad street, between Wall street and Exchange Place in 1710, and in 1738 a new market house was built in the middle of the street, near Wall street.

Ib. Several gentlemen subscribed to erect an Exchange in Broad street, "opposite the Bridge," in 1751, which was finished in 1755.

Broadway.

Dutch Records of 1656. This street was originally called "De Heere straat," or principal street.

Ib. In 1665 De Heere straat contained 21 buildings, and in 1677 it contained 65 buildings.

English Records. It was soon after called Broadway.

Ib. In December, 1697, an ordinance for lighting the streets, afterwards generally enforced throughout the city, was put in operation in Broadway. "It is resolved as to the regulation of the lights to be put out in the darke time of the moon within this city, and for the ease of the Inhabitants, that every seaventh house doe every night in the darke time of the moon, until the 25 March next, cause a lanthorn and a candle to be hung out on a pole every night. The charge to be defrayed in equal proportion by the Inhabitants."

Ib. In 1703 the burial ground in Broadway was granted to the Corporation of Trinity Church forever, "on condition of keeping the fence in order, and taking no more for burial of each person of 12 years and upward, than 3 shillings, and for each child 1s, 6d."

Ib. In 1708, permission was given to the Inhabitants to plant trees before their houses and lots. These trees it would seem were flourishing in 1759, at which time Professor Kalm, the Swedish traveller, describes them as follows: "The BROADWAY is spacious and airy; the houses have most of them a row of trees before them, which form an agreeable shade, and produce a pretty effect."

In 1738, a market was built in the middle of Broad- English Records.
way, opposite Crown, now Liberty street.

Water-street.

Laid out about 1734,
Named Water street, 1736.

English Records.
Ib.

Marketfield-street.

Originally called by the Dutch the "Markveltsteegie," Dutch Records.
or Marketfield path.

In 1695 named on the map Petticoat lane. Ib.

Nassau-street.

"Petition of Teunis DeKay, that a carte-way May be made, leading out of the Broad street to the street that Runs by the Pye-woman's leading to the Common of this City: that the Petitioner will undertake to doe the same, provided he may have the Soyle." 1692. English Records.

Called Kip street in 1732.

Ib.

New Dutch church erected in 1732. (Present Post office)

Ib.

Maiden-lane.

Formerly called the green lane, and made a public street in 1691. Regulated 1696, and called Maiden lane. English Records.

Liberty-street.

Laid out about the year 1690, and called Crown street. English Records.
Name changed after the Revolution.

Dey-street.

Regulated in 1750, and named after an owner of the adjacent property. English Records.

Stone-street.

Originally called by the Dutch the "Brower straat," (the Brewers' street.)

The brewery of O. S. Van Cortland was situated in this street. Dutch Records, 1665.

- Dutch Records. This was the second street ordered by the City authorities to be paved with stone, 1657.
1665. Contained 10 buildings, 1665.
English Records. Called Stone street, 1676.

John-street.

- English Records. Between William and Pearl, was formerly a lane leading to the residence of Mrs. Van Clyff, from the high road (Pearl street,) and was ordered to be left open as a public street in 1693. It was at first called Golden hill.

Bridge-street.

This is the only street in the city, the name of which has not, at some time or other, been changed. It was called "de Brugh straat," or Bridge street, in 1656, when names were first given to the streets in this city.

The name was appropriate, from the fact that it was the street leading to the bridge across the ditch or canal at the foot of Broad street. A bridge was still at the foot of Broad street one hundred years subsequently.

The Park.

- Dutch Records. The Park was originally a portion of the unappropriated lands on Manhattan Island, which were used in common by the citizens under the Dutch government, for herding cattle and other general purposes. By grant, under Dougan's Charter of 1686, "All the waste, vacant, unpatented and unappropriated lands, lying and being within the said City of New-York, and on Manhattan Island, aforesaid," were given to the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York.

- English Records. It was enclosed about the time of the Revolutionary war. The records, at different periods previous to that time, show that it was called The Common. A powder house stood north of the present site of the City Hall, built in 1684. A windmill stood near the present brick church. A gallows was erected on the Commons in 1725, which in 1756 was removed "to the place where the negroes were burnt some five years before, at the foot of the hill called Catiemut's hill," near the fresh water.

The Battery.

- English Records. 1693.—"Whereas there is actual warr between our Sovereign Lord and Lady the King and Queen, and the French King; and I am informed of a Squadron of Ships and land forces, intended from France to invade this City and Province; and whereas, for the safety and preservation thereof, I finde itt of absolute necessity to make a platforme upon the outmost pointe of rocks under the Fort, whereon I intend to build a battery to command both rivers: I have therefore thought fit, and doe hereby require you, the Mayor, Recorder and Aldermen of the City of New-York and Manning and Barnes' Island, to cut down 86 cordes of stockadoes, of 12 feet in length, and to have them in readiness to be conveyed to New-York.

Signed, BENJ FLETCHER.

The rocks upon which the Battery was built were called Capsey Rocks.

Wall-street.

The Records of the Magistrates of this City state, that in 1653, in apprehension of an invasion from New England, the inhabitants threw up an embankment and constructed a line of palisades on the present line of Wall street, from which the name of that street is derived. The length of the City wall was 3340 feet. The palisades were posts set six feet apart, sided up with boards. The whole cost being about $1500 of present currency. (See note.)

1653.—“Jan Vinge complains to the Burgomasters of the damage sustained by him from the erection of the City walls. That his land lies open, and the cattle destroy his planted crops.”

1665.—Ten small dwellings were built opposite the City wall, in what was then called “de Wall.” This was the origin of Wall street.

In 1677, Wall street contained 17 dwelling houses.

A slip and wharf were first built at the foot of Wall street in 1694.

1699 —“The petition of the Mayor, &c., to the Lieut. Governor and Council sheweth:

“That the former line of fortification that did range along the Wall street from the East to the North River, together with the bastions* that were thereon erected, are fallen to decay, and the encroachment of buildings will render the same useless for the time to come; and the City, purposing to build a new City Hall, at the end of one of the principal streets within the said City, fronting to the aforesaid line of fortifications, therefore humbly pray that your Honours will be pleased to intercede with his Excy. the Captain Genl. that the same fortification may be demolished according to the powers and authorities intrusted with him, and the stones of the said bastions may be appropriated to the building of the said City Hall.”

The new City Hall above spoken of was built on the present site of the Custom House in 1699. In 1703, a cage, whipping post, pillory and stocks, for the punishment of criminals, were erected in the street in front of the City Hall.

A slave market was erected at the foot of Wall street in 1709, “at which place all negro and Indian slaves to be let out to hire, or to be sold, took their stand.” (Ordinance, 1709 and 1712.

* There were two stone bastions on the line of the City wall; one on the N. E. corner of Wall and Broadway, the other on N. W. corner of Wall and William streets.

NOTE.—It may not be uninteresting, in connexion with the history of Wall-street, to give some extracts from the City Records, showing the emergencies upon which the city wall was built and maintained.

War with the English.

13 March, A. M., 1653.—General Session of the Councillors to take into consideration the intelligence from New-England.

It is resolved,—1st. That the whole body of citizens shall keep watch by night, in such places as shall be designated. The City Tavern to be the temporary head quarters.

2d. That the fort be repaired.

3d. Because the fort is not large enough to contain all the inhabitants, it is deemed necessary to enclose the city with palisades and breastworks.

4th. Some way must be devised to raise money.

5th. Captain Vischer is to be requested to fix his sails, to have his piece loaded, and to keep his vessel in readiness.

Same day, P. M.—A list of persons who shall contribute towards putting the city in a condition of defence is presented. The amount proposed to be raised is 5,050 guilders (about $2,000.) It is also stated, that the citizens' watch has been already organized. They are to be furnished fire and light.

15 March, 1653.—Commissioners are appointed to contract for the building of the palisades.

The Commissioners on the same day gave notice that on the 20 March they will publish the conditions of the work, and receive proposals.

20 March, 1653.—The conditions are published, and proposals made as follows :

The number of boards will be 156, one board in length,
9 boards in height,

1,404 boards in all,
1½ guilders each,

2,106 guilders,

340 posts.....	310	"
Nails.....	100	"
Freight....	120	"
Carpenters' fees.....	500	"

Amounting in all to.....3,166 guilders.

3 April, 1653.—In view of the unhappy state of affairs, Gov. Stuyvesant orders a day of general fasting and prayer throughout the provinces for the 9th of April.

28 July, 1653.—Mission from the Governor, to the City Magistrates, which states that the palisades are completed, and exhorts them to supply the city with corn and provisions. To pay for certain nails, side arms, etc., procured from the Government office, and to keep the cattle away from the repaired ramparts of the fort.

29 July, 1653.—Answer to the above mission, states that the citizens have been at an expense of from 4 to 5,000 guilders. That their business has been at a stand still, but that they are prepared to do their best.

In the fall of 1653.—A Commission representing New-England and New-Netherlands was organized, to consider the differences between the two governments, but parted without a settlement.

In the spring of 1654—The fortifications were repaired.

20 May, 1654.—A meeting of the magistrates having been called, Gov. Stuyvesant communicated intelligence from New-England, to the effect, that ships with warlike ammunition had arrived at Boston, and states that he should take measures to prepare for those ships, if directed against this place. He proposed, first, a tax on land, a tax on cattle, and a tax on houses. Second, he asked whether or not he shall retain the company's ship for service. Third, whether he shall send for the people on the Delaware River, or let them stay.

The city magistrates state their unwillingness to answer, as to the taxing, without advising with the people of the other part of the province; but in co-operation with the government, they will proceed to put the fortifications in a thorough state of defence.

July, 1654.—The ship Golden Bear arrived, with news of peace between England and Holland.

War with the Swedes.

1655.—The Swedes on Delaware River had assaulted and occupied the neighboring Dutch fort, Cassimer, and it was supposed contemplated advancing to the city of New-Amsterdam.

Council of War, 20 Feb., 1655.—The meeting considering the present serious occasion, deem it necessary that the fortifications be repaired, by spiking with good spikes a blind of planks, five or six in height, against the palisades.

The Captains of the Militia request that a person be appointed to distribute gunpowder to the citizens.

The Swedes not coming, Gov. Stuyvesant prepares to march against them. Two Militia companies are organized, severally officered by Martin Crigier, Captain; Pieter Wolfersen Van Covenhoven, Lieutenant; Joannes Pieterse Van Brugh, Ensign.

Paulus Leendeerin Vandergrist, Capt; Daniel Letschoe, Lieutenant, and Cornelius Steenwick, Ensign.

The records mention their marching and drilling on the Boston Road, now Chatham-street, near the Park.

May, 1655.—The Council of War make application for the appointment of two drummers to improve the marching of the Militia, which is allowed.

In the latter part of the month of August, the troops under Gov. Stuyvesant marched to the Swedish territory, and subdued the garrison of that Government, returning about 1st October, 1655.

War with the Indians.

On the night of the 15th September, 1655, taking advantage of the absence of the Governor and his forces, the Indians fell upon the hamlets and farms of the Dutch settlements, robbing and firing the tenements, and murdering the inhabitants. Many escaped to the city, and the magistrates, on the 20th September, resolved to raise up the palisades to the height of at least ten or twelve feet, to prevent the "overlopen," (jumping over) of the savages.

1 July, 1656.—"The Director General and Councillors of New-Netherlands make known to all, that information has been given to them, by certain Indians, that several Indians of the Tappans are harboring some evil design, and have intimated their intention to murder certain Christians on the flats; and as the Director General and Councillors have not been able to ascertain towards what place, or against whom their design is entertained, and not knowing, indeed, but it may be a project of the whole nation, they can neither ordain nor apply a remedy in any other way than to revive their former orders, to wit: That those persons who are living outside, in separate habitations, shall withdraw into the nearest village or hamlet, and form a combination for their protection; and in the mean time, that they warn each other, to be on their guard, and not to frequent the woods or the road without being armed; and that they always go in companies of two, three, or four, so as to be able to resist these bushmen.

And further, in order to prevent such separate murders, the Director General and Councillors, with the advice of the City Burgomasters, can devise no better expedient than (in addition to that above written,) to forbid that any Indian, with a gun or other weapon, shall be admitted into any fortified place, nor into the flat lands, nor into any house, under penalty of forfeiting such weapon, which may be taken away by any magistrate.

This shall go in force eleven days from this date of publication, of which they command their subjects to inform the Indians, in the Indian tongue, and in the most civil manner."

Gerret Dortland saith he is 86 years of Age, Was born at the Ferry and Lived after at Brookland—Knew Frederick Lubbertse's Land since a Boy, says that he knows where Frederick Lubbertse Lived, which is S. Westward of Sebring's Mill, and it was Commonly Esteemed that Frederick Lubbertse's Line was near his house. Remembers Joost France in Possession of Land that George Bergen and Israel now have—Fences went to the Creek about 60 years since he knew them—has now seen the fences and thinks they stand as then. Remembers Jan Evertse Boutin Possession of Bevois Land, was a Man of 75 and married a girl of 16. Says he helpt him to make his Fences. Workt there two years and Fences stood as now, was then about twenty three years old—Never then heard that Frederick Lubbertse made any Pretension to these Lands nor any in his Right till now.

Marabie Bevois says she is aged 84 near 85, was born in New York—it's last May 63 Years since he came to Live at Brookland, knew Frederick Lubbertse Lived where Hans Bergen now lives. Remembers was Going to the Place where Brewer's Hill is now from Brookland by the House of Lubbertse. and saw many Little Hills on the Way from the House to the Mill along the neck and Enquired what the Hills were, and was answered by them with her that it was Indian Corn Land,—Knows where Manchonell Lived a little below Tommiebie's Knew the Land of George Bergen to have belonged to Marabie Gerretse, or Ea. She let it to Isaac Francey (Marabie) She lived at N. Y. She Remembers Francey on it about 60 years ago, that Francey Lived on it till Marabie sold it to George Hanse, Father of George Bergen. Remembers it to be always in fence, and that the Fences stood as they now Stand, and the Same of the other Lotts; has lived at Brookland Ever since She removed from N. York as before.

Heard Jeromus Remsen's Mother say, that there was only a small Creek between Nutten Island and the Shoar, and that a Squah Carried her Sister over it in a Tub—that that Sister was the first Born in this Country.

Says that George Bergen's half sister lived at Bevois place on Kent, and had a mind to Buy Marabie's place but was disappointed, and Complaining of it with Tears said it was her Brother Jacob Hanse Bergen and Brother Michael that were the cause of Jory's buying it and Disappointing her Joost Van Brunt, aged 77 years and upwards, born and Lived at New Utrecht, says when he was about 9 years old, when the Dutch came to take New York, he came with his Father, Mother and Brothers in a waggon Down the Hollow near Tommiebie's, and they said that other side of the Hollow was Fred Lubbertse's Land. Says that a Great deal of the Land is wash't away against Nutten Island, and it went further out than now but cant say how much. Remembers to have seen Meadows before Sebring's house but how far out he knows not—has seen the fences at Bergen's and does not Remember to have seen them Otherwise than as now. That he was an Arbitrator about Dividing the Land between Sebring and Bergen about 14 or 15 Years ago, and that there was no Pretence that Lands in Question were a part or that they Claimed any Right there.

Jeromus Remsen, Aged 77 Years. Was born about Brookland and Lived all his Days there, Knew Frederick Lubbertse Lived where Hans Bergen now—but had Little Acquaintance with him—Remembers about 55 years ago, that Jacob Hanse Bergen Father of Lessor lived at Lubbertse's Place, that he came to this Depon't. to get a pr. of Shoes made, that then he told the Depon't. he had been at York with Marabie Gerretse to ask if she would sell her Place, and that she had said she would, and said that he was Going to his Brother George Hansen at Flatbush, to Get him to Buy it—that George Hansen Bought it soon after and Lived there—that he was there Long before the Date of the Deed, that Deed was only given at last paym't. that the year Depon't was married, which was 1688; the said Joris Hanse being a Carpenter agreed to Do a Job of work for Depon't if Depon't would plow for him, and that Dep't Did plow for him the very Land now in Question Close up to the Meadows, that it was then in fence and fences stand now in the very place they were then. Never heard of any pretence, and says that if he had had any he would not have gone to advise his Brother—Says that he turned his Plow ag't the fence of the Land of Bevois, and that fences stood then as now so far as he thinks. Says that he has heard his Mother Say she was Carried off Nutten Island by a Squah, and that it was all Sedge and Meadow, only a Creek between Nutten Island and Long Island; his Mother's Sister was first born in this Country; it's now 116 or 117 years since she was born; his Mother was 4 years younger; has heard often from other people that there was but a small Creek between Nutten and Long Island.*

* On the margin, against this paragraph, is the following note in the hand-writing of John Jay. "His mother carr'd from Nutten to Long Island by a squaw. Sworn 1741, at ye Tryal."

Abraham Lott, aged 57, Remembers between 30 and 40 years that fences stood at George Bergen's as now—Says was an Arbitrator; was shown there the Will of Fred. Lubbertse who devised to his own two Daughters Each one Plantation as then in fence, and to his Wife's two Sons other Lotts; seems pretty sure the words were as then in fence; heard no Discourse of any Claim of Neighbours Land out of fence

Peter Stryker, Aged 44, Says that being on a Jury of view about 6 or 7 years ago, Jacob Hanse, Father of Hans Bergen, Said at his house on Talking of Worpus, there's Worpus, pointing with his finger thro' the Window to the head of the Creek by his Garden. Remembers above 30 years the land in fence as now and no claim till within this year or two.

Peter Winants, Aged 79, born at Bradford, and about 8 or 10 years old when he come to live at Brookland. Knows the Land in dispute upwards of 60 years ago, and believes the fences stand now much as they did then; ab't 40 or 45 years ago he went to live at Staten Island; he remembers Nicholas Baker who was husband to Marite Gerretsen, first lived upon the land of George Bergen, and the witness's father and one Joost France hired it of Marite Gerretsen, or her husband, and his father left to Joost France. He remembers Jan Evertse Bout, who lived upon the land sold by Carel De Bevois to Israel, above 60 years ago; he knew Fred. Lubbertse, and never heard he made any pretence on any of these Lotts. Knew old George Hanse Bergen father to the present George, in possession above 45 or 50 years ago, when France's time was out, and he was often in the House.

Benjamin Van Dewater. Aged 71 years, Said he knew Jan Evertse Bout the son of the patentee; that he had heard and understood that the father was owner of both the place of Bergen and Debevois; that he made a Will and died before His Son was born; that 63 years ago he remembers Annetje Pietersen Widow of Jan Evertse Bout the Elder, in possession of the Land of Carel Debevois; they lived on it about 12 years and then let it out.

Copy of a Statement made by Frederic De Peyster, Esq., before the New-York Historical Society, on the foregoing subject—taken from its files:—

It may be recollected that some time since I presented to the Society, on behalf of Mr. Richard Varick De Witt, a variety of maps, charts and sketches made by his Father, the late Simeon De Witt, formerly and for many years Surveyor General of this State, and during the Revolutionary war "Geographer," as he styles himself, "to the United States."

These maps have been neatly bound and arranged by direction of the Society, and form a very valuable portion of its property. They embrace the field of the operations of the Army in this and the adjacent States during that distinguished era, and were made in most instances for the immediate use of Washington.

The present donation consists of five papers in connection with the above collection.

- 1st. A Map or Sketch. Entitled, "The Winter Cantonment of the American Army and its Vicinity for 1783."
- 2d. A Sketch of New-Windsor, near which the Army encamped during the above period.
- 3d. A Map or Sketch showing the Country about New-Windsor, the roads intersecting it, with the names of the principal inhabitants, (it is presumed,) dwelling in the neighbourhood.
- 4th. A Map or Chart of the Hudson, with a portion of the country bordering upon the Sound, and extending to the Connecticut.
- And, 5th. A Chart of the Harbor of New York, the whole country embraced in No 4, with the names of the principal places laid down thereon. A pen and ink Sketch—most beautifully executed—to which is subscribed the name of Robt. Erskine, F. R. S., 1779.*

On examining this Chart, it will be observed, that off the N. E. point of Governor's Island the draught of water is marked at 7 fathoms, at the commencement of what is known as Butter-milk channel.

This induced me to examine "The Plan of the city of New York," surveyed in 1766 and 1767, by B. Ratzer, Lieutenant 60th Royal Am. Regiment—serving in 1767—the property of the Society, and here exhibited. This shows a depth throughout this Channel, varying from 3 to 5 fathoms. I examined also two volumes of beautifully executed Maps, on a magnificent scale, made by the British Government, and published in 1780 and 1781, under the Title of "The Atlantic Neptune."

On the title page of the 1st vol. is a mem., of which the following is a copy:—

"TO THE HONBLE.

VICOUNT SIDMOUTH,

&c., &c., &c.

"As a mark of esteem and grateful remembrance of many valuable acts of Friendship, this work is presented by the Author,

COLONEL JOSEPH F. W. DES BARRÈS.

"This work is now the property of Messrs. E. and G. W. Blunt, of this city.

* Mr. Erskine, I am informed, was a brother of the celebrated Lord Erskine.

"In this collection is a Chart, Entitled, 'A Chart of New-York Harbor, with soundings, views of land-marks, and nautical directions for the use of pilotage, composed from surveys and observations of Lieutenants John Knight and John Hunter of the Navy, and others.'

"Published by J. F. W. DES BARRES."

This Chart marks the continuous depth of Butter-milk channel at 4 fathoms, with 6 fathoms at the N. E. point of the Island.

The Surveys from which the Entire Charts were made, are stated to have been taken in the years 1765, 1766, 1767 and 1768, and by the British Government as before stated, were published in 1780, 1781, for the use of the Navy.

These Surveys in the main correspond with the Chart of Lieut. Ratzer, except that the latter, in one instance, makes part of the channel a fathom less.

In connection with this matter, and in illustration of the great changes going on in our Harbor, in the course of the improvements by docks, wharfs, &c, since the earliest records bearing upon this investigation is an original Document, the property of the Society, which our efficient Librarian, Mr Moore, has brought to my notice; and which I beg leave to introduce to the notice of the members, as a matter of novelty to many, and as corroborative of the traditionary reminiscences of some of the veritable Knickerbocker race, yet living.

The extraordinary testimony contained in this paper, contrasted with the evidence exhibited in the several Charts to which I have alluded, led me to look into this matter more critically, from my affection for and sympathy with the remnant of the same race, become almost "pilgrims and strangers" in their own Father-land.

From the evidence here produced, it is shown that the channel which now admits of the safe passage of the largest merchant ships, was formerly a mere creek, fordable at low water, and that the first female born in the ancient colony of New-Amsterdam was ferried over it in a tub. This is shown by the testimony of Marabie Bevois, whose evidence was given at the ripe old age of 84.

Mr. Alexander, the eminent counsel referred to, was the father of Lord Sterling, of Revolutionary memory. Judge Chambers, the uncle of John Jay, also stated to have made these notes, was, exclusive of his official situation, one of the influential men of the day. After him our Chambers street was named. The name of John Jay, "last, not least," needs no comment.

Gov. Jay's note fixes the time when this testimony was given, viz.: in 1741.

In little less than a century this channel from a "mere brook," according to the testimony of Jeronius Benson, another witness, had attained a depth varying from 4 to 6 fathoms throughout, and at this time is reported to be much greater.

In addition to this ancient evidence, I may add, that when a student at law in the office of the late Peter Van Schaack, of Kinderhook, (of venerated memory,) Judge Benson, his valued friend, was often his guest. On various occasions, the Judge, in conversing with me about the localities of this city, I well remember, stated that in former times this channel was fordable at low water. That the gradual extension of the wharfs into the East river, on the New-York and Brooklyn shores, had contracted the river, and the volume of water thus forced through Butter milk channel had deepened the passage so as to admit at that time of the transit of small craft.

As to the facts thus in issue, I must admit that I had at no remote period my own doubts. I had long since heard that the channel was of great depth upwards of three score years past, and the existence of the "little creek." I was inclined to think, to have been beyond the memory of the very oldest inhabitant in even Hans Bergen's time, or Hendrick Hudson's day.

But I bow to the stubborn facts of this case. I was for a time in the predicament of the worthy Justice of Mohawk celebrity, who, having patiently listened to one side, was unwilling to hear the other, lest he should get perplexed. The like dilemma has happened to me, to a certain extent, in the course of this investigation. But from the proofs submitted and the regard I entertain for tradition, where it can be substantially accredited, I no longer doubt what these "witnesses can say."

I am the more inclined to this view, as I do not mean to place myself in the position of a Juror in our Court of Sessions, who, in the palmy days of Recorder Riker, having sharply cross questioned a witness, whose direct testimony seemed clear and truthful, was remonstrated with by the Court, and in justification, alleged that he was led to act as he did, "because the witness' evidence did not tally with the statements which he well recollected to have read at the time in the newspapers."

New-York, Dec. 5, 1848.

[The Compiler is indebted to Mr. Henry Onderdonk, Jr., of Jamaica, Long Island, for the following.]

A BRIEF SKETCH OF THE BRITISH PRISONS IN NEW-YORK, DURING THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR.

The British took possession of New-York Sept. 15, 1776; and the capture of Fort Washington, Nov. 16, threw 2700 prisoners in their power. To these must be added 1000 taken at the battle of Brooklyn, and such private citizens as were arrested for their political principles in New-York city and on Long Island; and we may safely conclude that Sir William Howe had at least 5000 prisoners to provide for.

The sudden influx of so many prisoners, the recent capture of the city, and the unlooked-for conflagration of a fourth part of it, threw his affairs into such confusion, that, from those circumstances alone, the prisoners must have suffered much, from want of food and other bodily comforts; but there was superadded the studied cruelty of Capt. Cunningham, the Provost Marshal, and his deputies, and the criminal negligence of Sir Wm. Howe.

To contain such a vast number of prisoners the ordinary places of confinement were insufficient. Accordingly the Brick Church, the Middle Dutch, the North Dutch, and the French Church, were appropriated to their use. Beside these, Columbia College, the Sugar House, the New Gaol, the new Bridewell and the Old City Hall, were filled to their utmost capacity.

Till within a few years, there stood, in Liberty-street, south of the Middle Dutch Church, a dark stone building, with small, deep, port hole looking windows, rising tier above tier, exhibiting a dungeon-like aspect. It was five stories high; and each story was divided into two dreary apartments. On the stones and bricks in the wall were to be seen initials and dates, as if done with a prisoner's penknife or nail. There was a strong, gaol-like door opening on Liberty-street, and another on the south-east, descending into a dismal cellar, also used as a prison. There was a walk nearly broad enough for a cart to travel around it, where, night and day, two British or Hessian guards walked their weary rounds. The yard was surrounded by a close board fence, nine feet high. "In the suffocating heat of summer," says Wm. Dunlap, "I saw every narrow aperture of those stone walls filled with human heads, face above face, seeking a portion of the external air." While the gaol-fever was raging, in the summer of 1777, the prisoners were let out, in companies of 20, for half an hour at a time, to breath fresh air; and inside they were so crowded, that they divided their numbers into squads of six each. No. 1 stood ten minutes as close to the window as they could crowd, and then No. 2 took their places; and so on. Seats there were none; and their beds were but straw, intermixed with vermin. For many weeks the dead-cart visited the prison every morning, into which eight to twelve corpses were flung and piled up, like sticks of wood, and dumped into ditches in the outskirts of the city.

The North Dutch Church, corner of William and Fulton streets, was made to hold 800 prisoners; its pews were ripped out, and used for fuel probably; its mahogany pulpit was sent to London, and put in a chapel there, and a floor laid across from one gallery to the other. Bayonet marks are yet discernible on the pillars; and those walls, that had reverberated with the praises of the Most High, now resounded with curses and blasphemy.

The Middle Dutch Church (now the Post Office) was at first used as a prison. Mr. John Pintard (an assistant to his uncle Lewis Pintard, who was appointed by Congress to look after the prisoners) says, "In the Middle Dutch Church, the sick, wounded and well were all indiscriminately huddled together, by hundreds and thousands; large numbers of whom died by disease—and many undoubtedly poisoned by inhuman attendants, for the sake of their watches or silver buckles." Soon afterwards it was turned into a riding-school, to train dragoon horses. The floor was taken up, and the ground covered with tan bark. A pole ran across the middle, for the horses to leap over. The glass was taken from the windows, and the shutters unhung. The church was left in this ruinous condition till 1790, when we read, in Greenleaf's Paper of July 6th, that "On Sunday last the new Dutch church was re-dedicated to the King of Kings. The Rev. Dr. Livingston preached from Ex. xx, 24. It had been prostituted to horse-schooling while the British had possession of the city, thus turning the House of God into a den of thieves."

The Brick Church (Dr. Spring's) was at first a prison, but soon it, the Presbyterian Church, in Wall-street, the Scotch Church (Dr. Mason's), in Cedar-street, and the Friends' Meeting House, were converted into hospitals. At the Peace, in 1783, there was no Presbyterian church fit to preach in, so that Dr. Rogers delivered his famous Thanksgiving Sermon in St. Paul's Chapel. The French Church, in Pine-street, was a storehouse for ordnance stores.

Columbia College was used as a prison only a short time, probably. One of Capt Vandyke's grenadiers saw the great fire, Sept. 21, 1776, from its windows.

The New Bridewell, between the present City Hall and Broadway, was for a time used as a prison for American soldiers. Oliver Woodruff, who recently died at the age of 10, was taken prisoner at Fort Washington, Nov. 15, 1776, and has left the following record of his confinement here:—"We were marched to New-York, and went into different prisons—816 went into the New Bridewell, I among the rest; some into the Sugar House; others into the Dutch Church. On Thursday morning they brought us a little provision, which was the first morsel we got to eat or drink after eating our breakfast on Saturday morning. We never drew as much provision for three days' allowance as a man would eat at a common meal. I was there three months during that inclement season, and never saw any fire, except what was in the lamps of the city. There was not a pane of glass in the windows, and nothing to keep out the cold except the iron grates."

The Old City Hall stood on the site of the present Custom House, and was converted into a guard-house for the main guard of the city. It had dungeons and prisons below; and a court-room, on the second floor, where the refugee clergy preached during the latter part of the war. At first civil offenders were confined here; but, subsequently, whaleboatmen and robbers. Maj.-Gen. Lee, when carried off in 1778, was, for a while, immured in its dungeons, and treated as a traitor.

The New Gaol, or "the Provost (now the Hall of Records,) was destined," says Pintard, "for the more notorious rebels, civil, naval and military." An admission into this modern bastille was enough to appal the stoutest heart. On the right hand of the main door was Capt. Cunningham's quarters; opposite to which was the guard-room. Within the first barricade was Sergeant O'Keefe's apartment. At the entrance door two sentinels were always posted, by day and night. Two more at the 1st and 2d barricades, which were grated, barred, and chained: also, at the rear door, and on the platform at the grated door, at the foot of the second flight of steps, leading to the rooms and cells in the second and third stories. When a prisoner, escorted by soldiers, was led into the hall, the whole guard was paraded, and he was delivered over, with all formality, to Capt. Cunningham or his deputy, and questioned as to his name, rank, size, age, &c., all of which were entered in a record book. At the bristling of arms, unbolting of bars and locks, clanking of enormous iron chains, and a vestibule dark as Erebus, the unfortunate captive might well sink under this infernal sight and parade of tyrannical power, as he crossed the threshold of that door which probably closed on him for life. The north-east chamber, turning to the left, on the second floor, was appropriated to officers, and characters of superior rank, and was called Congress Hall. So closely were they packed, that when they lay down at night to rest (when their bones ached) on the hard oak planks, and they wished to turn, it was altogether by word of command, "right—left," being so wedged as to form almost a solid mass of human bodies. In the day-time the packs and blankets of the prisoners were suspended around the walls, every precaution being used to keep the rooms ventilated, and the walls and floors clean, to prevent gaol-fever. In this gloomy abode were incarcerated, at different periods, many American officers and citizens of distinction, awaiting, with sickening hope, the protracted period of their liberation. Could these dumb walls speak, what scenes of anguish might they not disclose! The Captain and his Deputy were enabled to fare sumptuously, by dint of curtailing the prisoners' rations, exchanging good for bad provisions, and other embezzlements. In the drunken orgies that usually terminated his dinners, Cunningham would order the rebel prisoners to turn out and parade for the amusement of his guests, pointing them out: "this is the d—d rebel, Col. Ethan Allen," "that is a rebel judge," &c.

The other prisons were cleared at or before the close of hostilities, but Provost was continued as a prison till Evacuation Day. "I was in New-York Nov. 25th," says Gen. Johnson, "and at the Provost about ten o'clock, A. M., when an American guard relieved the British guard, which joined a detachment of British troops, then on parade in Broadway, and marched down to the Battery, where they embarked for England."

Capt. Cunningham who was executed for forgery in London, Aug. 10th, 1791, stated in his dying confession: "I was appointed Provost Marshal to the royal army, which placed me in a situation to wreak my vengeance on the Americans. I shudder to think of the murders I have been accessory to, both with and without orders from government, especially while in New-York, during which time there were more than two thousand prisoners starved in the churches, by stopping their rations, which I sold. There were also two hundred and seventy-five American prisoners and obnoxious persons executed, which were thus conducted: a guard was despatched from the Provost about half-past twelve at night, to the Barrack street, and the neighborhood of the upper barracks, to order the people to shut their window-shutters and put out their lights, forbidding them at the same time to look out of their windows and doors, on pain of death; after which the unfortunate prisoners were conducted, gagged, just behind the upper barracks, and hung without ceremony, and there buried by the black pioneer of the Provost.

[The following interesting selections are taken from Mr. J. W. Moultou's pamphlet, entitled "New-York, 170 years ago, &c."]

GOVERNMENT.

To maintain their domain at the present crisis was not so easy a task as that of acknowledging a sovereign, to which they were attached by the powerful impetus of national glory and kindred association. This they were aware of. No one imagined that England who, by the treaty of Breda (1667,) had ceded valuable possessions in exchange for this Province, would suffer its advantages to be wrested from her without a single exertion to blot out the ignominy of a conquest to which her local government had submitted without a struggle.

To prepare, therefore, for this demonstration, was the cardinal point to which the new government were to direct its attention. By its establishment the functions of the Supreme Military Tribunal were in a measure exhausted. Nevertheless, their united exertions were directed to place the city in an attitude of entire and perfect defence. They had all made up their minds—first, that an attack was inevitable; secondly, that it depended on themselves whether it should be successful. There was an obstinacy of valor in the Dutch character, which achieved impossibilities. Amid their most trying difficulties, there was a redeeming decision and energy that carried them through all obstacles triumphantly. They were indeed a remarkable people; honest in purposes; inflexible in faith; resolute in self-denial; calmly brave and judicious; religious without fanaticism; and in the administration of justice strictly impartial.

That the retention of their conquests depended on themselves, was a belief which it required very little persuasion to inculcate throughout the city. But policy required, at least, that unity of feeling should accompany executive energy. The disaffected therefore, including the ci-devant Governor Lovelace and his suite were ordered from the city. There was now but one soul of action. A brave determination pervaded all classes. A calm piety mingled in the deliberations of the magistracy. The Schout, Burgomasters and Schepens, at the City Hall, daily opened their Sessions in prayer. The Governor and Council at the fort, instituted a rigid supervision over the morals of the soldiery. A strict police through the city was established.

The city became guarded day and night at every assailable point. At the fort, the guard mounted the ramparts upon duty. The sentinels were stationed at the gates. Subaltern officers took the rounds during the night; visiting the walls; passing the watch-word, and changed the sentinels each half hour.

The reveille was given each morning at day-break. The gates were soon after thrown open until sun-set. The tap toe was played each evening at nine. It was the signal for retirement. In the city also, the gates, fortifications and bulwarks were guarded day and night. The principal guard (Hoffdt Wag,) was stationed at the City Hall. Hence the mayor daily proceeded with a guard of armed soldiers to the fort; received from the Governor the keys of the city gates, and, accompanied by his guard, opened the gates in the morning and closed them in the evening; and having stationed the citizen guard (burgher waght,) and night watches, returned the keys to the Governor. At the head, also, of the city militia (Scuttery,) he each evening held a parade before the City Hall.

Such was the routine of military duty. All was order. Civil regulations were also adopted, which the citizens, at a less perilous period, might have deemed arbitrary. But the Dutch paid homage to the supremacy of law. Private inconvenience for the general good was the patriot's duty. They submitted to direct taxation, to demolition of houses that embarrassed the defence, and to the assumption on the part of the Governor and Council of the doubtful prerogative of sovereignty, the power of the Ne exeat: for no one was permitted to pass out of the city, nor even be ferried over the river, without a license or passport. No one could pass into the Island, but through the city gates, and if any one attempted so to do while the gates were locked, death was the penalty. The fort, batteries, redoubts, and fortifications, were prohibited ground from the citizens. And yet no murmurs were audible. They yielded with alacrity to the exigencies of the crisis. They shared the toil of the soldiers on military duty and nocturnal watch. They united in the repairs of the fortifications. Indeed, the true element of public defence—popular opinion—was awakened and enkindled. The work of reparation went on with a vigor which the acknowledged poverty of the public treasury had no effect in diminishing.

The people persevered until winter, when the commanders pronounced the fortifications a sufficient defence without the presence of their fleet. On their departure, however, to Holland, it was deemed expedient to leave the Surrinam, a 44 gun ship, under the immediate command of Governor Colve, and the frigate Sea Dog (Zee Hond,) under Captain Evertson, as an additional guaranty for the safety of the city. The Surrinam was moored in the East River in front of the City Hall, and smaller vessels were directed to leave the dock which was in rake of the fort, and take shelter in rear of the Surrinam in case of attack. The immediate removal or demolition of between twenty and thirty houses, gardens, and orchards under the ramparts of the fort and outside of the city fortifications, was indispensable, and the Governor and his Council (Steenwyck, De Peyster, and Van Brugh,) issued their proclamation for that purpose, and it was obeyed.

THE CRISIS.

The selection of these officers for the General Government, was from the best and best qualified. The people, therefore, were virtually consulted, for they were too single-minded and virtuous to wish any other test of qualification for office. In this, and in the direct appeal to them, which will be presently shown, we see that even in presence of a conquering fleet, popular sovereignty—the sovereignty of opinion—was recognized in the very act of organizing a new government over their conquest. It is so in every instance of the formation and administration of government. If tyrannical, it is influenced by popular opinion through fear: if liberal, through choice. The sovereignty of the people, therefore, as expressed in popular feeling and opinion, lies at the base of every government. If corrupt, it engenders, but still controls arbitrary power. If enlightened and virtuous, it is the conservative strength as well as origin and paramount authority of the government. In all cases, it speaks emphatically, though it speak in silence. In the present instance, there appeared to be a strict regard to this primary element of political power; and in the choice of the City Magistracy, the people, who were directly interested, were to be directly consulted.

The "Commanders and Military Council," therefore, invited the citizens to elect deputies to confer with them at the City Hall. They did so. The deputies then notified the citizens to assemble and nominate a list of six Burgomasters, (an office similar to Aldermen,) and fifteen Schepens, (or Assistant Aldermen,) "of the best and most respectable citizens, of the Reformed Christian Religion only." The citizens next day assembled in general meeting, and made their nomination by a majority of votes.* viz:—For Burgomasters—Cornelis Steenwyck, Cornelis Van Ruyven, Johannis Van Brugh,† Marten Cregier, Johannis De Peyster,† and Nicholas Bayard.

For Schepens—Jeronimus Ebbingh,‡ William Beeckman,‡ Egidius Luyck, Jacob Kip,‡ Gelyn Verplanck,‡ Lourans Van de Spiegel,‡ Balthazaer Bayard, Francois Rombouts, Stephen Van Cortlandt, Adolph Pietersen, Reynier Willemson, Peter Jacobsen, Jan Vigne, Pieter Stoutenburg, Coonradt Ten Eyck.

[Those marked † were appointed Burgomasters; and Egidius Luyck, (who had been Rector of the Latin School,) was superadded as a third burgomaster. Those marked ‡ were elected Schepens, and Anthony De Mill, Sheriff: and took an oath of allegiance "to the high and mighty Lords, and States-General of the United Netherlands, and his Highness, the Lord Prince of Orange," to obey their Magistrates, who were, or might be appointed; administer equal justice to parties, promote the welfare of the city, "Defend and protect in every part the sincere and true Christian religion, in Conformity to the Synod of Dordrecht, as instructed in the Churches of Netherland.]

* All citizens, (Burghers,) were entitled to vote. The suffrage with them was universal. But citizenship, (Burgerrecht,) was a privilege and a distinction under the Holland dynasty. It was divided into great and small, (Groot Burgerrecht and Klein Burgerrecht.) Merchants, traders, and shop-keepers, were obliged to pay a duty for the privilege of becoming small citizens, (Klein Burgers,) besides a recognition duty, a duty to the public wharf, to the overseer of the weigh scales, to the store house, (pack huys,) and to the weigh-master, (eyck meister,) for marking their weights and measures according to the "true Amsterdam standard." In 1673, their privileges were further taxed for the public defence, by an extraordinary duty of two per cent. on exports of beaver and others furs, two and a half on imports of friezes and blankets, and five on imports of powder, ball, brandies, and distilled waters.

THE EARLY STATE OF
MEDICAL SCIENCE AND PRACTICE
IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

We copy from the eloquent and elaborate discourse of the late President of the New-York Academy, Professor John W. Francis, the following account of the early state of medical science in this metropolis. The details are interesting, and no less novel than instructive and curious. The discourse, which abounds in facts of singular value to the medical and philosophical historian, was delivered as the Anniversary Address, in the New-York Tabernacle, in November, 1847 :

New-York has been signally blessed in her physicians. Imperfect as are the records concerning our early Dutch doctors, I find many prominent individuals among them, who, to medical erudition and scientific knowledge, added experience in political councils, and rendered services of no small consideration to the public weal. Several came direct from Holland, the land of their birth and the place of their education. Their public trusts were for the most part assigned them by the authorities of the Dutch West India Company. Johannes Megaolensis, and his son Samuel, are recognized as the most conspicuous of these public worthies; they were men of learning and character; the son, Samuel, was a physician, and received his earlier education at Harvard University, and graduated M. D. at Leyden. He practised medicine at New-Amsterdam for some time; but was subsequently elected by the people as one of the Commissioners to negotiate with the British the articles for the capitulation of the Province. About the same time Johannes La Montagne, who was also one of the Council, was pronounced a skillful doctor of medicine. It appears from the *Rensselaerwick papers, that a surgeon of the name of Abraham Staes, was also here. Hans Kierstede, still earlier, was a practising surgeon here; and a daughter of Tryn Jansen was eminent at the same period, as a female obstetrician. Gerardus Beekman, also, for a short time exercised the active duties of a physician. About 1660, Jacob D. Comner was noted as the City Surgeon, but soon after removed to New-Amstel, now Newcastle, Delaware. A post mortem examination is recorded in 1691, and Johannes Kerfbyl, and five others of the faculty, testified to the accuracy of the statement set forth. The subject was the body of Governor Slougher who had died suddenly, under suspicious circumstances. The details are sufficiently minute, and evince an acquaintance with antopsic investigations creditable to the pathological knowledge of the times. There was a sufficient variety in the natures of these doctors; Kerfbyl appears to have been the most eminent among them; he was a graduate of the University of Lyden, a member of the Colonial Legislature under the Earl of Bellamont, and a friend of Leisler. He came from Holland, and died about 1699. John Lockhart was a Scotchman; Thomas Thornhill and Robert Brett were Englishmen. Luca Van Effinchoone seems to have been from Germany. Gilles Gaudineau, who signs himself Chirurgo-Physician, was a Frenchman. He was a liberal contributor of money to church affairs. The prevailing language of the place was the Low Dutch; some, however, used the German, some the English, and others the French, while the Portuguese was used by the Jews. The population of New-York, at that period, was 4,202, (a little over the number of this audience,) including 575 colored slaves. Among the records on the subject of the pathological examinations, we find that the council ordered that eight pounds, eight shillings, be paid by Mr. Collector, to the Chirurgeons for opening and inspecting the said body. This, I believe, may be pronounced the first or earliest example of a post-mortem examination in the annals of our science in this country. John Bard and Peter Middleton, sixty years after, 1750, dissected in this city the human body, for the purpose of imparting medical instruction.

At the commencement of 1700, there arrived in this city an individual, whose name has, in his descendants, become familiar to our ears, and historical in the political annals of the Union. John Van Beuren, of Van Beuren, near Amsterdam, in Holland, a pupil of Boerhaave, and a graduate of Leyden, at the age of twenty-two years, was, upon the recommendation of his great teacher, appointed Surgeon of a Dutch Fleet, which sailed for New-York, after touching at the coast of Africa. Soon after his arrival in this city, he, at the instigation of the Governor, was chosen physician and surgeon to the then Alms House; he enjoyed a large practice. At the age of 25 years he was married, and had five sons and three daughters, and from him issued the whole family of the Van Beurens. His youngest son, Beekman, was born in this city, in 1727, and died in 1812. He succeeded his father, the first settler, as physician to the Alms House, until the English army entered the city. At the peace of 1783, he again accepted his public trust, but resigned it in 1784. He was the first physician who introduced the practice of Inoculation for the Smallpox in our public institutions. All the sons of John Van Beuren attained the age of eighty and eighty-five years.

The distinguished Cadwallader Colden, eminent as a philosopher, naturalist and writer, gave us the first particular account of our climate in 1720. He also wrote on the Sore Throat Distemper in 1735, and Observations on the Malignant Fever which prevailed in New-York in 1741—2. His Principles of Action in Matter, evinced great acumen, and was a production of high repute. His History of the Five Nations is universally known. Colden was remarkably skilled in botanical knowledge; and from the Linnæan correspondence, recently published by Sir James Edward Smith, we find that it was Colden himself, and not his distinguished daughter, who received the high compliment of having a plant of the tetrandrous class, named Coldenia. Colden was the first American expositor of the Linnæan system in the New World. This classification he taught on the banks of the Hudson, almost immediately after its announcement by the illustrious Swede. Kalm, the traveller, the Professor at Abo, a pupil of Linnæus, with whom Colden became personally acquainted, might have given him the first intimations of the artificial system, as it is known that its principles were expounded in America before they were recognised in Great Britain. Indeed, Hudson first naturalized the sexual system by adapting it to English plants, in 1762.

About a century ago, Dr. Johnson, of Perth Amboy, in New-Jersey, was sedulously devoted to Flora, and maintained a correspondence on subjects of natural history with the philosophers of Europe. In one of his letters, he says, he thinks the information he imparts will be found profitable to an inquirer of like facts, one Mr. Linnæus. I have not yet satisfied myself whether Johnson was a practitioner in New-York at that early date. In 1740, Isaac Dubois took his degree of Doctor of Medicine at Leyden, at which time he published a dissertation on the use and abuse of blood-letting. He, doubtless, had listened to the instructions of Boerhaave. He exercised the art in New-York. Contemporary with Dubois, was a physician of note, of the name of John Nicoll. He was imprisoned by Leisler, and subsequently presided as judge on the trial of the accused Governor. Dr. John Dupuy was also another contemporary who flourished in this place; he was learned and eminent in his calling, but died early, in the 25th year of his age, in 1745. Dr. John Bard, long a distinguished clinical practitioner in New-York, published several papers on the yellow fever, and an essay on the nature and cause of the malignant pleurisy, which proved so fatal to the inhabitants of Long Island in the winter of 1749. He further added to the usefulness of a life of great toil by private instruction in practical medicine. I at present remember but one of his immediate pupils, Dr. Henry Mott, who exercised for many years the art, both on Long Island, where he was born, and also in this metropolis; and where he, in 1840, died at the advanced age of 83 years. Dr. Mott was a promoter of the mercurial practice in the sore throat distemper, and in other diseases, and was much associated during his professional career with Dr. Ogden and Dr. Muirson; but he will be long remembered in our annals as the father of Valentine Mott, the great surgeon of our times, the improver of the art, and the introducer of surgical anatomy and pathology in our schools of medical science. Dr. Peter Middleton's Historical Inquiry, on the ancient and present state of medicine, delivered twenty years after, 1769, was a most effective essay. Middleton was learned, acute, and practical; in manner singularly refined, and of a generous nature. He arrived in this country with Dr. Wm. Hunter, of Scotland, who came to Long Island in 1752, and who was rendered famous by his anatomical lectures there. Middleton also wrote an excellent paper on Croup, and was the first professor of the practice of physic in the newly-organized medical school connected with Columbia College. Middleton died in New-York, in 1781. He was a man of rare excellence, widely known, and admired by all.

Dr. John Jones, ever to be remembered as a physician to Washington and the surgeon to Franklin, was a native of Long Island; he completed his education abroad, at London, Leyden, and Paris. As surgeon, he held the first rank among the practitioners of the art in that day. In 1768, he was chosen an associate in the same school with Middleton. His volume on Wounds and Fractures, published in 1776, and subsequently re-printed, attests his great qualifications. Percival Pott and William Hunter are to be enumerated among his scientific friends. Dr. Samuel Bard, the associate of Middleton, Clossy, Smith, Tennant and Jones, as the founder of our first medical school, was conspicuous for his classical and general knowledge, and his great practical skill in medicine. He was first professor of natural philosophy, and subsequently of clinical medicine, and was long Dean of the Faculty in Columbia College. In his later years, he was the President of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the University of the State of New-York, upon its re-organization in 1811. His acquirements while at Edinburgh secured him the Hope medal for Botany, and Haller commended his thesis for the Doctorate, De Viribus Opii. His inquiry into the nature, cause, and cure of Angina Suffocativa, first appeared in the Transactions of the American Philosophical Society. He wrote some papers on the nature of yellow fever, printed in the facts and observations, in the Additional Facts and Observations of the College of Philadelphia. His Compendium of Midwifery has had a wide circulation. To Dr. Bard, clinical medicine and humanity at large are greatly indebted for his successful efforts in laying the foundation of that important institution, the New-York Hospital. Few surpassed Bard in all the best and noble qualities which constitute intellectual and moral excellence. His memory is still cherished with the most grateful associations by the few of our venerable citizens who still abide with us.

Our profession is indebted to Dr. Jacob Ogden, of Jamaica, Long Island, but who practised largely in this city, for his Letters on the Malignant Sore Throat Distemper, bearing date 1769 and 1774. Ogden was a bold and rigorous practitioner, and urged with great earnestness the mercurial practice in pneumonic affections.

In 1781 Dr. Richard Bayley, of this city, published his letters addressed to Dr. William Hunter, of London, on Angina Trachealis, a tract of singular merit, and from which we are justified in giving to him the merit of being the first writer who understood the nature and treatment of Croup. He wrote a volume of deep interest on the yellow fever of New-York, as it prevailed in 1795: and in which work he attempted to give distinctiveness to the term contagion and infection. As Health Physician to the Port of New-York, he addressed a series of letters to the New-York Common Council on that subject, which more than any other for a long while engrossed his attention, the origin of the yellow fever, and the nature and expediency of quarantine laws. Too much cannot be said in behalf of the exertions he made to establish our Lazaretto, and the state regulations which originally existed, to lessen the evils of pestilential miasmas.

The first medical degree conferred in this city, was that of Bachelor of Medicine, in 1769, upon two candidates, Samuel Kissam and Robert Tucker; and in 1770, that of Doctor of Medicine, upon Samuel Kissam, the first named of these gentlemen. I must trespass a moment concerning this Kissam. The first graduated Doctor of Medicine in the Western Hemisphere calls for a word or two. John Kissam, of the family of the Kissams, early left Eng'and, and embarked for America. A part of them emigrated to Long Island, where the aforesaid Samuel was born, at Madnan, now Great Neck, about the year 1745. His father, John, had five sons, of whom the most eminent was Benjamin Kissam, eminently distinguished as a lawyer at our bar, and the preceptor of the late venerable statesman, John Jay. He was also the father of the late prominent surgeon, Dr. Richard S. Kissam. Samuel, our first graduate, entered upon the practice of physic in the city of New-York, but left it soon after his graduation, with Tennant, the Professor of Obstetries, to enjoy better prospects in the West Indies; an ample field of business enabled him soon to realize a fortune, but he and Tennant within a few years fell victims to the yellow fever of that climate.

JACOB STOFFELSEN, Pltff. }
vs. }
IDE VAN VORST, Deft. }

Pltff' saith that Deft. lays claim to half a negro which he received from Capt. Geurt Tysen and his company, in return for a feast given to him, at which two sheep were eaten, and Ide Van Vorst also had two sheep at her wedding. He maintains that the Deft. has no right to the negro, but that he belongs solely to him.

Deft. answers, that by deed of sale of their mother's property, the just half of all the same belongs to her and her sister. She therefore insists that half the negro belongs to her, and demands the same, acknowledging that the sheep were shared by both sides.

Parties being heard, the court decided that inasmuch as the negro was given by Capt. Guert Tyson and his company to Jacob Stoffelsen, the same doth not belong to the estate. But Jacob Stoffelsen must duely prove that he gave some value to Capt. Guert Tysen and his company for the negro out of the estate, whenever any further dispute arises thereon.

JACQUES DE LA MOTTHE, master of the Bark called St. Catrina,* Pltff } contra
DAVID ISRAEL and the other Jews, according to their signatures, Defts. }

Touching the ballance of the payment of the passage of the said Jews, for which each is bound in Solidum. Whereas, their goods sold thus far by vendue, do not amount to the payment of their obligation it is, therefore, requested that one or two of the said Jews be taken as principle, which, according to the aforesaid contract or obligation, cannot be refused. Therefore, he hath taken David Israel and Moses Ambrosius as principal debtors for the remaining ballance, with request that the same be placed in confinement until the account be paid.

The Court having weighed the petition of the Pltff, and seen the obligation wherein each is bound in Solidum for the full payment, have consented to the Pltff's request, to place the aforesaid persons under civil arrest, (namely, with the Provost Marshal,) until they shall have made satisfaction; provided, that he, La Motthe, shall provisionally answer for the board, which is fixed at sixteen stivers per diem for each prisoner; and is ordered, that for this purpose, 40 a 50 guilders, proceeding from the goods sold, shall remain in the hands of the Secretary, together with the expenses of this special court. Done in New Amsterdam in New Netherland.

Officer Cornelis Van Tienhoven is hereby authorised, on the complaint of skipper of the Lady Maria, presented in Court, to warn the unwilling sailors of the said ship to proceed forthwith on board and perform their proper duties, according to their promise given in Court last Monday, or in default thereof, to proceed and arrest the same. Done at the meeting afor. said.

On the instant request of Arent Van Hatten, now being about to depart, for the remainder of his salary earned as Burgomaster, have the Burgomasters and Schepens ordered Jacob Kip to pay to him, Hatten, out of the excise fund, the balance of eight months salary, being since the 1st February, when they obtained that order on consent. HENDRICK PIETERSEN, alias Kint in 't water, (child in the water,) Pltff. }

In a case of arrest of certain timber which the Def. cut on his land, Pltff. claims that it was cut on his land. Def. saith, he cut the timber in divers places, and that all was not cut off Pltff.'s land. He adds that he hired the land of the Pltff. for six years, and that the latter consented to his cutting some spars therefrom, and that he had the consent of the others.

Parties being heard, the arrest on the timber was declared null and void, and Webber was allowed to haul it home and use it at his pleasure, provided he states that he can prove he cut it by consent on divers places.

At the meeting aforesaid,

Wolfert Webber summoned to court by the Worshipful Magistrates, on the complaint of some neighbours, in consequence of damages he inflicted, attacking with dogs and beating certain pigs which went on his land.

Wolfert Webber demands the name of the complainant. William Beekman states it to be on the complaint handed to him, of Mde. Verleth and Stiller's wife, because their hogs were unwarrantably attacked and injured by Webber and his dogs, so that he considered it proper to acquaint the court.

W. Webber says he was so annoyed by the hogs in his land, whereby all his seed was destroyed, that he divers times drove them home, but not being able to keep them off, he hunted them with dogs, but he did not injure them in the least; on the contrary he was at various times insulted and threatened with a beating by Mde. Verleth.

The worshipful court admonished Webber to keep himself clear of complaint, and to institute his action should he suffer wrong.

Sybout Claessen demands, by Petition, inasmuch as the street planking before his house hath fallen down, through the last high water, and the other neighbours leave their lots unsheeted, and he alone should not be obligated to repair the same at considerable expense, that the Burgomasters and Schepens be pleased to order that the gardens from the corner of the Ditch to the City Hall, be all equally planked up. Whereupon was endorsed.

The request being found reasonable, it is ordered by the Worsh. Court, that each one shall plank up (beshoyen) in front of his lot from the City Hall to the corner of the Ditch, (graft) including the City Hall building; failing which the same shall be executed by the Worsh. Court, at the expense of the lots which are in default.

On the instant request, both verbal and written, of Jan. Peck, to be allowed to pursue his business as before, inasmuch as he is burthened with a houseful of children and more besides: the Worsh. Court having considered his complaint, and that he is an old Burger, have granted his prayer, on condition that he comport himself properly and without blame, and not violate either one or the other of the placards, on pain of having his business stopped, without favor, and himself punished as he deserves, should he be found again in fault.

Instruction given by the Hon'ble Lords Supreme Councillors (absent the Rt. Hon. 5.

From all other judgments below a hundred guilders, the sum of six stivers.

6.

From all Interlocutory judgments rendered in writing during trial, six stivers.

8.

For the sale of distrained goods, six guilders per day, being reckoned from 9 a 11 hours, or as many hours more or less, according to circumstances.

9.

For making out and affixing notices on three places, each notice eight stivers a piece.

10.

For all insinuations, summons and renewals extending beyond the jurisdiction of this city to the Fresh Water, on the Island Manhattans, six and thirty stivers.

12.

After sale and receipt of the proceeds of the distrained goods, he shall first deduct his salary (fees) and pay over to the successful party, with all despatch, the monies to him belonging.

13.

For the better execution of his office, shall the Sheriff, messenger, and servants of justice assist the High Constable when necessary.

15.

The Director General reserves unto himself to change, enlarge, or diminish these, according as circumstances hereafter may demand.

Done at Amsterdam, in New-Netherland, this 6th February, 1655. After collating, the foregoing copies are found to agree with the Register of Resolutions of the Hon'ble Lords Supreme Councillors of New-Netherland, and signed, Pl'tff rendering his demand in writing, says that he, De la Simon, hath kept his store open during the Sermon, and sold by retail, as proved by affidavit; concluding, therefore, that Def't shall be deprived of his trade, and condemned in a fine of six hundred guilders.

The charge having been read before Def't who not understanding the same, it was ordered that copy thereof be given Def't to answer the same before next Court day.

The Herr Cornelis van Tienhoven informed the Burgomasters and Schepens that the Director General and Supreme Council have resolved that the Jews who came last year from the West Indies and now from Fatherland, must prepare to depart forthwith, and that they shall receive notice thereof, and asked if the Burgomasters and Schepens had anything to object thereto.  EGBERTS VAN BORSUM, Def't. }

Pl'tff saith he has not been paid by Def't for rearing his Negro's child which his wife is nursing; requests, therefore, that the child be declared free, when he promises to rear the same at his own expense.

Defendants' wife appearing says, she bargained with Pl'tff's wife for the child for one year at least, and hath not refused her payment of what she promised her in the presence of other negroes—Requests, as she will not keep the child any longer, that it be returned to her.

Parties being heard, it was ordered that Anthony Matysen deliver the Negro child up to Def't, and that Egbert van Borsum shall pay what he promised at the time according to contract.

To my Lords the Burgomasters and Schepens of the City Amsterdam in New Netherland :

Whereas according to the privileges of this City, actions for fighting, kni'e drawing and wounding must be brought before your Hon'ble Lordships ; therefore I, Cornelis Van Tienhoven, in my capacity as Sheriff of the City of Amsterdam, have apprehended the person of Aryaen Jansen for having violently attacked on shore his skipper (who must pay him wages and board according to agreement.) and assaulted him with a drawn kni'e, and wounded him in the hand as the skipper hath complained, and demands justice and aid. Wherefore the Sheriff ex-officio requests your Lordships that Adriaen Jansen may be punished as an example to others, according to the tenor of the Placard, dated XVI. May, 1647. Ady 16 April, 1655, Amsterdam, was subscribed, Your Lordships' Servant,

CO. VAN TIENHOVEN.

The prisoner on the above charge being heard in Court, says he did not know what he did, inasmuch as he was drunk. Prays Mercy.

The Heer officer being asked for proof, proceeded with his evidence, but requests that the prisoner may be again heard.

The prisoner being heard on the following points, answered as appears in the margin :—

- | | |
|--|--|
| Ques. I. Does he not know where he drew his kni'e on the Skipper? | Ans. 1. No, as he was drunk. |
| II. Did he then draw any kni'e ? | II. Yes ; against the Sailors who held a knife against his face. |
| III. Does he not know whether he had any words with the Skipper? | III. No. |
| IV. Does he not know that he hath wounded the Skipper? | IV. No ; nor even that he threatened him. |
| V. Does he not know who was by or about ? | V. Yes : says that the Skipper struck him. |
| VI. Did he ever quarrel with the Skipper before ? | VI. No. |

Ordered by the W. Court that the Heer Officer shall produce his proof in support of his action as he claims, by next Monday. Meanwhile the prisoner shall be again remanded to prison.

Ordinance enacted and concluded by the W. Court of the City Amsterdam as to the time of appearing of the Schout, Burgomasters and Schepens, both in Ordinary and Extraordinary Session.

Schout, Burgomasters, Schepens and Secretary shall be holden to appear, on notification by the Court messenger, at all Ordinary Sessions in the City Hall, precisely at 9 o'clock on the ringing of the bell; or at Extraordinary Sessions at the hour appointed, under a fine as follows :

Firstly, whoever comes half an hour after the Bell rings or the time appointed (when the Court Messenger shall turn a Sand box, or Hour glass) shall be fined six stivers.

Whoever comes one hour too late as before said twelve stivers ;

And whoever is wholly absent, or until the Court adjourns (without good reason, such as sickness, being from home, to wit at Fort Orange, at the South or North), shall be fined each time forty stivers.

Which imposed fines shall be paid immediately down, without any exception, and collected by another, to be expended or employed in time and circumstance, as by plurality of votes shall be found proper.

Thus ordained and concluded this 16th April, 1665, at the aforesaid Meeting, in the City Hall, at Amsterdam in New Netherlands.

Whereas Aryaen Jansen van Spreckerhoorn, Navigator and Sailor on board the Ship Black Eagle, hath undertook, on shore, within this City, to assault his skipper with a naked knife, and wounded him in the hand, wherof the skipper having entered complaint and demanded justice, the aforesaid Aryaen Jansen was placed in confinement. Therefore the W. Court of this City Amsterdam, in N. Netherland, having heard and examined the demand and conclusion of the Heer Cornelis van Tienhoven, in his capacity as Sheriff of this City, against the prisoner, the proof thereof, the complaint of the skipper, the Placard and order hereunto appertaining, published by the Rt. Honble. Lords Director General and Council, on VII. May, 1647 ; and, what further is material thereto, have condemned the aforesaid Aryaen Jansen van Spreckerhoorn, as their Worships of the Court do hereby, in consideration of the delinquent's youth, the intercession of the skipper, &c., to appear in Court, and there, with uncovered head, ask forgiveness of God, Justice and his skipper; to defray the costs of arrest, and pay in addition a fine Carolus Guilders, to be applied, one-half to the Officer, the remainder to the City. Thus done and sentenced this 19th April, 1655, in the Court of Burgomasters and Schepens of this City Amsterdam, in New Netherland.

Aryaen Jansen van Spreckerhoorn appeared in Court, and fulfilled the first part of the Sentence, namely, begged the forgiveness of God, the Court and the Skipper.

The Burgomasters and Schepens assembled this day to open a certain letter received by the Ship the Ballance of Amsterdam, the superscription of which was:—Honorable, Upright, Faithful, the Burgomasters and Schepens of the City New Amsterdam, in New Netherland. Which was done in the aforesaid Assembly; and further, the Secretary was ordered to read the same.

HONORABLE, WORSHIPFUL, UPRIGHT, BELOVED, FAITHFUL:

As good governments are bound to take care that their Lands, Cities and People be freed and protected, as much as possible, from violence and injury on the part of foreign enemies and neighbors, so is it the duty of a good Commonalty to assist in defraying the Common burthens which were contracted and incurred for maintaining themselves therein. It behooves your Worships to know what pains and expenses we have incurred ere that City was placed in such a posture; notwithstanding which your Worships have, up to this time, failed to procure any subsidies for this purpose from the Commonalty there.

Inasmuch as that is contrary to the maxims of all well-regulated Countries and Cities, and in especial opposition to the government of this City, it becomes now necessary in this present conjuncture of time and circumstances, that herein no further postponement be made, unless we are content to behold the ruin of this State, now of such good promise. Wherefore, we being obliged to consider some means of supply, have thereunto Resolved, Concluded and established the following, and namely—

On each morgen of land, yearly, Ten stivers,

“ “ Horn Cattle, yearly, Twenty stivers,

From the rent of houses, the Twentieth penny, also yearly.

And though this our Order shall be more fully made known to you by our Director General and Council, as we have, according to their office, absolutely authorized these in all this matter, yet we have considered it, also, necessary to enjoin this specially on your Worships, with serious and earnest recommendation not only to set a good example to the Commonalty in contributing the aforesaid supplies, but also to encourage them therein, and even, if necessary, and should they refuse, to enforce the same, and cause them to be executed; for such we find to be for the best advantage of the State; whereunto then we confide,

We have, heretofore, consented and conceded to your Worships the Receipts of the Excise on Beer and Wine, to pay therefrom the public and other charges communicated to your Worships by our Director and Council there. But, in the meanwhile, we observed that the proceeds were not so applied, but were employed by your Worships or your predecessors, to treating and despatching one Le Bleenw and other private matters, to the injury and discontent of the Company.

We have therefore thought proper to inform your Worships hereby, that we have resolved and concluded to place the receipts from the aforesaid Revenue again in the general Treasury of the Company, which then shall be for your Worships' government.

Worshipful, upright, beloved, Faithful, we recommend your Worships to God's holy protection, and remain

WORSHIPFUL, RIGHT BELOVED:

HONORABLE, RIGHT BELOVED :

Considering, on the one side the manifold mercies and goodness of God, which His bounty, from time to time, not only hath exhibited, but also continued to this young budding Province, whereof there have been no few proofs, the sudden and unexpected changing of a dreaded War unto an acceptable Peace vouchsafed unto us last year, since which time God's mercies and blessings have not failed us, neither in our outgoings nor in our incomings, nor in the departure nor return of divers vessels and persons wherein the good people of this Province were, generally, interested; whereunto is also to be added God's blessing, generally, in the advancement, prosperity and settlement, not only of the State in general, but also of each Individual in particular, which ought to move every one to grateful acknowledgment and thankfulness, sensible that this alone is the right key to open unto us the further treasures of God's merciful favor and blessings.

Considering, on the other hand, the resolution and order of the Supreme Magistracy of this Province to be undertaken and executed under God's guidance for the further benefit and security of this Colony; whereunto then, first of all, God's especial blessing, aid and countenance should be, with humble heart and earnest prayer, besought; the Director General and Supreme Council of this Province have, before all things, thought necessary to ordain and prescribe a day of general Fasting. Prayer and Thanksgiving, which shall be observed everywhere throughout this Province, on Wednesday next, being the 25th of this month of August, in the fore and afternoon of that day, publicly to preach at the usual place, God's Word, after hearing which to laud and praise the All-good God for His general and particular blessings, favors and benefits, exhibited and continued towards this Province, and the good People thereof: on the other side, to pray God, with humble hearts, that he would please not only to continue the same, but also (which is the principal object of this order) especially to beseech the Good God to bless the projected Expedition, solely intended for the greater security and advancement of this Province; to prosper it for the honour of His name, and to bring it to the wished for issue. considering that all undertakings, councils and projects are idle and vain which have not God's Holy blessing

Therefore, the Servants of God's Word are requested to form texts, Prayers and Thanksgiving to this purpose, and all subjects professing the Reformed Religion are charged to attend the same, at the appointed time, at the place where God's Word is usually preached, in order, with each other, to praise and thank the All-beneficent God for received gifts, and to pray for his blessing as well over the Country and good people thereof in general, as especially over the proposed Expedition. Likewise, that He would please to take under His merciful protection the Director General, Councillors, and other High and Inferior officers, with their men and ships, and their undertaking in such wise to bless that all may result to His holy name's honor; to the establishment of His holy Gospel, and to the advantage of this Province and the good people thereof. For the better observance and attention thereof, the Director General and Council forbid all common business on that day, such as ploughing, Sowing, mowing, fishing, hunting, &c., as well as all games of Tennis, ball playing, tapping and drinking, on pain of Arbitrary Correction. This Done in the Assembly of the Honble. Lords, Director General and Supreme Council, holden in Fort Amsterdam, in New-Netherland, the 16th August, 1655.

Present,

The Heeren, ALLART ANTHONY and
OLOFF STEVENSON.

Burgomasters.

To the present Lord's Ordinary and Extraordinary Councillors (in the absence of the Lord General and the Lord First Councillor) of New-Netherland,

The Burgomasters of this City Amsterdam, in New Netherland, reverently show how that in this conjuncture, with your Honor's knowledge, and at the request of the Commonalty for the greater safety and security of the same, the outer works have been furnished with a curtain of Planks against an assault of the barbarous Indians, who, on the night of the 15th instant, unexpectedly fell upon us with murder, robbery and fire. Which aforesaid work being now finished, and the expenses as well for labour as materials are to be paid, we presume, under correction, that the said payment must be advanced by the Commonalty of this city, as being for their protection disbursed. We request your Honors to authorize us in our quality to raise the expenses of the aforesaid work already executed, and still to be performed, from and out of the Commonalty, and that each one shall contribute, according to his circumstances and condition.

The sum is at present estimated about Four thousand guilders. Expecting your order hereupon, was signed

ALLART ANTHONY,
OLOFF STEVENSON.

The representation of the Burg masters being read and considered, it was resolved that the request is just.

But as the same concerns the whole Commonalty, it was decided for the greater peace and the maintainance of unity, that before authority be granted, saving the respect due to the Burgomasters, that their Lordships shall communicate the Request to the Schepens of this city, and the same being also signed by their Worship, or the majority of them, further consideration shall be taken of it on the return of the Lord General who is daily expected. Meanwhile the Burgomasters can perform their duty and satisfy the laborers. This done and endorsed by the actual councillors, ordinary and extraordinary in Fort Amsterdam, in N. Netherland, the 30th Sept'r, 1655.

Whereas it has been deemed good and necessary, at various times and occasions, at the request and resolutions of the majority Burghery of this city Amsterdam, in New-Netherland, for the greater contentment and security of the Burghery, their houses and property, also for the better protection and safety of the property and merchandize transported hither by Individual Skippers, Merchants, Factors, and other passengers, to provide this city with some outer works, which, in this last unexpected recentre with the native Indians of this Country, it has been considered expedient to repair and to strengthen with a plank curtain 5 a 6 high, in order to be better secured against an attack and escalade of the aforesaid Indians, as it appears by the resolve of 20th Sept'r last, adopted for this purpose at the City Hall of this city.

Wherefor, as well formerly as now again, some monies have been raised and disbursed by divers honorable merchants, which, according to all well regulated cities and places, it is usual to have supplied and ought to be furnished by the Burghery inhabitants and Traders of such places. Therefore the Director General and Council of New-Netherland, having examined and seriously considered the written representations of the Burgomasters of this city, exhibited at divers times, have for the supply of the incurred and still necessary expenses on the public works, consented in the presence of all the Schepens, as they do hereby consent, that the aforesaid Burgomasters, at the suggestion of the Hon'ble Lord General Petrus Stuyvesant, shall first and foremost have power to ask from the Trading Skippers, Merchants, Factors, and Passengers, and from the Common Burghery, a voluntary subscription and contribution, each according to his condition, state and circumstances. And in case of opposition or refusal by disaffected or evil minded, which the Director General and Council do not expect, the aforesaid Burgomasters with the President of the Schepens, are authorized, at the instance of the Respected Lord Director General, to assess such, and according to the state and condition of the same to exact a reasonable contribution, and promptly to levy execution for the same. Further, the above mentioned Burgomasters and President of the Schepens, present and future, are hereby authorized, for the further supplement and necessary repairs as well of this City's works, City Hall, and other necessary expenses, at the suggestion and on the resolution of the Respected Lord Director General, to create, at a more convenient season, and impose some reasonable and necessary charges on the Lots, Houses and real estate, according to the order and custom of Fatherland. Thus done at the meeting of the Director General and Council of New-Netherland, at the instance, and in the presence of the Burgomasters and Schepens, except Joh. Pieter Verbrugge. Adu. 11th Octob., 1655, at the Council Chamber, in Fort Amsterdam, in New-Netherland.

The Herr Burgomaster, Martin Cregier: "That he shall be whipped and branded, and banished for all his life out of the Province of New Netherland."

The Herr Schepen, Pieter Van Cowenhoven: "He shall be put to death."

The Herr Schepen, Johannes Van Brugh: "Decides that he shall be whipped and branded, and banished the country."

The Herr Schepen, Hend. J. Vander Vin: "That the offender is worthy of death, and ought, according to the Herr Schout de Sille's demand, be punished until Death follow, with the costs and mises of justice."

The Herr Schepen, Jacob Kip: "The reasons being sufficiently discussed in complete court, and papers and confession being examined, he can, in conscience and conviction, not vote otherwise than that he, Hendrick Jansen Claarbout, ought, according to Law, be executed by Death."

The Herr Schepen, Cornelis Steenwyck: "Decides that he be whipped and branded under the gallows, the Halter being around his Neck, and banished forever, and sent hence with his wife and children on pain of the gallows; thanking the Magistrates on his bended knees for their merciful and well deserved justice."

After the collection of the votes, it was decreed by the Burgomasters and Schepens, by plurality of votes, that the offender, Hendrick Jansen Claarbout, shall be brought to the place where justice is usually executed, and with the rope around his neck, be whipped and branded and banished the country, and condemned in the costs and mises of justice.

It is deemed necessary by the College and the Herr President Burgomaster, Martin Cregier, and the Herr Cornelis Steenwyck, Schepen, are appointed to go to the Director General and Council, to request from their Honors liberty to erect a Gallows before the City Hall, and also to be empowered to banish from the District of New Netherland, Who, returning, bring with them a written Apostille to their verbal request, as follows:

Director-General and Council of New Netherland, said Magistrates are for this time authorized and qualified not only to banish the apprehended Hendrick Jansen Claarbout beyond the city's jurisdiction, but also beyond the Province of N. to be erected before the City Hall, should that be necessary for carrying the judgment into effect. Done, Fort Amsterdam, in N. Netherland, the 23d January, Ad. 1660.

The Heer Schout de Sille, says, 'tis known that he endeavored heretofore, with a naked sword in his hand, to prevent the people boarding the vessels, but could not do it; whereupon, he hath orders to say no more, but to mark those that went on board and fine them

The W. Court condemn the Def't. each separately in the fine of twenty-five guilders, according to placard.

The Heer Schout is asked what his demand is? Answering says—Twenty pounds Flemish according to placards and Ordinances of Holland.

Burgomasters and Schepens having heard, read and re read the demand and conclusion of the Heer Schout; the declaration by him produced relative to the insolence and perverseness perpetrated by the defendant at night with an evil design. The W. Court order Mr. Priscott to bring further proof by credible witnesses.

The Heer officer demands that the goods of James Wilky and Ritchard Gryn shall remain arrested until the matter is disposed of.

The W. Court grant the Heer officer's request.

LYSBERT CORNWEL, Pltff., }
vs.
 RUTGERT JANZEN, Deft. }

Pltff. states that the Deft. said in the street, that she was every man's bawd—according to affidavits. Demands that he shall prove it.

Deft. denies such; producing counter evidence, saying, has no knowledge of her, and knows nothing, except that she is an honest girl.

Pltff. demands that the defendant pay the costs of suit, which was denied by the Court.

Walewyn Vander Veen appearing in Court, was told that it had come to the Magistrates' ears, that he, finding himself aggrieved by the judgment of the last Court day, relative to the protested Exchange had calumniated the Magistrates, saying, they know what they are—they are mere block-heads; with more of the like; all of which, he, Vander Veen, denies. The Heer Schout undertakes to prove it.

Vander Veen requests to know the man who reported so of him, and if he cannot prove it, that he be punished; and proving it, he is willing to suffer punishment.

Walewyn Vander Veen produces the protested bill of exchange.

Burgomasters and Schepens postpone the matter to the next Court day.

The Heer Schout, PIETER TONNEMAN, Pltff., }
vs.
 WALEWYN VANDER VEEN, Deft. }

The Pltff. says, that the Deft. insulted and calumniated the We. Magistrates of this city, having spoken of them according to evidence thereof.

The Hon Jacobus Backer, actual Schepen of this city, rising at the request of the Schout, declares that he was on some business at the house of Daniel Litscho, where the Deft being, caused him to be called from the room in which he was—who, after having some discourse with him, came to speak, among other things, of the judgment on the Bill of Exchange under protest. The Deftd. said, the Magistrates know not what they are, and were only fools and simpletons.

The Hon Allard Anthony, Actual Burgomaster of this city, at the request of the Heer Schout, rises and declares, that Walewyn Vander Veen, speaking of the judgment on the protested Bill of Exchange, said—they know not which of the two declarations aforesaid was denied by Walewyn Vander Veen; requesting that his verbal proposition and written exception handed in, may be disposed of, saying, if not, I appeal.

Walewyn Vander Veen being called in, the Heer Officer concludes, nominis officii, that Deft shall, for his committed insult, be condemned to repair the injury, honorably and profitably; honorably, by praying with uncovered head forgiveness of God and Justice; profitably, by paying as a fine the sum of Twelve hundred guilders, with costs, and in case of refusal, to go into close confinement.

The Deft. requests that disposition be made of his entered exception, and if such were not decided he should be obliged to appeal, saying, he does not answer to the main matter.

Whereas, Walewyn Vander Veen insulted the subaltern bench of Justice of this city, and spoke calumniously of the same, touching which the Heer Officer making his demand, Burgomasters and Schepens having heard the demand and proof of the Heer Schout, adjudged that Walewyn Vander Veen, for his committed insult, shall here beg forgiveness, with uncovered head, of God, Justice, and the W. Court, and moreover, pay as a fine, the sum of One hundred and ninety guilders, to be duly applied, with costs, and in case of refusal, he shall go immediately into confinement.

Which judgment being read, Walewyn Vander Veen said, I appeal, and request a copy of the sentence to answer to its principal points, saying further—People complain at the South River; but I may well regret myself here.

Whereas, Walewyn Vander Veen hath refused to obey the sentence, he was ordered by the W. Court to go into his house in confinement, and to be kept there by a Court messenger until he shall have obeyed it.

To the Rt. Honble. Lords, the Lords Director General and Councillors of N. Netherland :

RT. HONORABLE LORDS:—

The Burgomasters and Schepens of this city respectfully represent to your Honours, that Walewyn Vander Veen hath refused to obey the pronounced sentence hereunto annexed, and hath been committed a prisoner to his own house until he shall have conformed to the same. Request, inasmuch as the insult is destroying the authority and respect of this Court of Law, the support of the Supreme government, so that similar occurrences may be prevented,

 ANDREES REES, Deft. }

The Heer Pltff. says, he had fined Deft.'s wife because that there were nine pins at her house last Sunday during preaching, and can and glass stood on the table.

Deft. says he was not at home, but on the Watch—and that there were no nine pins at his house, nor can the Honble. Pltff. say that he saw drinking at his house during the preaching.

Deft.'s wife appears in Court, denies that there was any nine pins or drinking at her house, saying, that some came to her house who said, that church was out, and that one had a pin and the other a bowl in their hands, but they did not play.

The Heer Schout states, that Deft.'s wife said, she did not know but church was out, and offered to compound with the Schout.

Parties being heard, Deft. was condemned by the W. Court in the fine of six guilders, to be applied as is proper.

The Heer Pltff. says, that Deft. insulted the Heer Schepen Tymotheus Gabry, calling him a Bastard. Demanding that he shall repair the injury profitably and honourably, and pay a fine at the discretion of the Court.

Deft. acknowledges he said so, but in jest, not thinking that it should be so taken, and might well have been silent.

The Schepen Gabry, rising, declares, that one evening the clock striking nine, it was not heard by him, the Deft. said, if thou can'st not hear that, thou must be a Bastard.

And whereas, Jan de Witt answers, that such was spoken by him in jest and not from malice. Burgomasters and Schepens say to Jan de Witt, standing inside, that they forgive him for this turn, but he must take care not to repeat the offence, or that other provision shall be made.

PAULUS VAN DE BEECK, Plff. }
 vs. }
 MARTEN DE WAART, Defl. }

Pltf. says that Defl. laid in three Barrels of Beer for his wedding, and paid excise only on five half-barrels, and had no permit for one half-barrel.

Defl. says he told Barent Jacobzen, the Beer-drawer, to take out the permit.

Pltf. acknowledges that Barent Jacobzen was with him to enter the half-barrel, but Defl. would not pay for the permit, and he would not trust him, and Defl. then laid in the beer without permit.

Burgomasters and Schepens condemned the Defl. to pay the Pltf. the ten stivers, with the costs incurred thereon.

Alexander Carolus Curtius, Rector, appears in Court, setting forth that the Farmer hath spoken to him about payment of the Excise; and whereas Professors, Preachers and Rectors are exempt from excise in Holland, he sustains he also is exempt from excise, the rather as the Heer Director General hath granted him free excise.

The W. Court decided that the De. Rector shall pay the excise.

At the Court of the Schout, Burgomasters and Schepens, appeared the Honble. Valiant Heer General Petrus Stuyvesant, to assist at the nomination of the succeeding Burgomasters and Schepens.

The Heer officer, rising, asks if any of the Magistrates had any objection that he should co-operate with the Magistrates in the nomination of succeeding Burgomasters and Schepens. Question being put, it was decided that he could not, inasmuch as it manifestly conflicted with the Jurisdiction of the Heer Schout, and the laws and customs of the City Amsterdam, in Europe.

The Heer Director General decides that the Heer Schout shall have vote and co-nomination, assuring them that it shall be so concluded by the Director General and Council of New Netherland. Burgomasters and Schepens declare if the Director General and Council should so decide, so it must be with them.

Whereupon the Heer Director General, the nomination be postponed until the acte thereof be given to the Burgomasters and Schepens.

After some further debate over and hither, the Meeting adjourned until four o'Clock in the afternoon, which being again Complete,

The Heer Schout Pieter Tonneman exhibited to the Court a Certain Acte from the Honble Director General and Council of N. Netherland, which reads as follows:—

Director General and Council of N. Netherland, comparing the previous with the present Instruction of the Schout of this City, decide for cause that the Schout must preside in the Court of Burgomasters and Schepens, and consequently have opinion and vote in the Annual Nomination of the Subaltern Magistrates of this City, and all other matters wherein he is not a party. Thus done at the Assembly of the Honble Lords Director General and Council, holden in Fort Amsterdam in New Netherland, the first of February, Anno 1661.

Understood,

P. STUYVESANT.

Lower stood,

By order of the Honble. Lords Director General and Council of N. Netherland, was signed,

C. V. RUYVEN, Secy.

Which being read in Court, Burgomasters and Schepens say that is contrary to the Instruction, he not bringing with him his instructions, and that Burgomasters are thereby deprived of their authority.

The Heer Director-General reading the Instruction of the Heer Schout, says, that by the first rank remaining to the Schout, he understands the presidency.

The Heer President suggests that the instruction of the Heer Fiscall also directs that he shall preside in the Court; yet, however, the presidency remained with the Burgomasters, of which they were now deprived.

Whereupon, the Heer General says that such was connived at by the Director-General and Council. The Heer Director-General says that he is content if the Heer Schout will desist from the presidency granted to him inferentially to-day, until such shall be decided by the Honble. Lords Majores, conformably to the above acte.

Whereupon, the Heer president states that the College concludes that the Heer Schout shall co-operate in the nomination for the present time, and desist from any further, unless it be otherwise decided by the Honble. Lords Majores.

The Honble. Director General and the Heer officer are satisfied therewith; whereupon, Schout, Burgomasters and Schepens, proceed to the nomination, as followeth:

The Heer Officer demands from each of the Defts. a fine of fifty guilders, for street riots and fighting, which they, defts., had and committed with each other, by night, and at unseasonable times, at the house of Hendrick Hendricksen Obe, and in the street, according to proofs produced thereof, with costs.

Defts. deny it; Jeremias Janzen acknowledging that he had threatened Marten Van Waart, but did not strike nor assault him.

Burgomasters and Schepens having seen and understood the Heer officer's demand, and the produced declarations, find that Defts. committed great insolence, noise and uproar, by night, and at unseasonable hours, as well at Hendrick Hendricksen Obe's house as in the street; yes, so much, that many sprung out of bed, opened doors and windows, not knowing what was doing, which cannot, and ought not be tolerated;—therefore condemn the Defts. for their perpetrated insolence, each in a fine of thirty-six guilders, to be applied as is proper, all with costs; charging them not to repeat it henceforward, or that it shall be provided against.

Which demand and conclusion being first read to him, he was asked if he had any thing more in his case than he had acknowledged? Answers, no; and he had acknowledged every thing he had done, and being read to him, he falls on his knees and begs for mercy and forgiveness, and that he may not cause any scandal to his wife and friends, promising to demean himself henceforth honestly. Having been carried back to the place whence he was brought, the case is debated by the W. Magistrates, the demand and conclusion of the Heer Officer considered and weighed, and the prisoner, by plurality of votes condemned to be privately whipped, banished ten years, and condemned in the costs and mises of justice, which sentence is communicated to him.

Hans Stein, deputy of the Heer Officer, entering, is asked why he let Ritzert Bullock escape? Answers, he could not help it; was told to see how he should be treated, and is again conveyed to prison.

Pieter Schaaftbanck, Jailer, entering, is reprimanded for not having fastened the doors of the prison better. Answers, as Hans Vas has his residence in the prison room, he cannot attend to the prisoners who are confined there. He was ordered to place Hans Vas on bread and water.

The demand and conclusion entered against the prisoner, Marten Van Waart, by the Heer Officer, Pieter Tonneman, for his grave and shameful act of theft committed at various times and divers places according to his own voluntary confession and acknowledgment, without torture or force: first, for having stolen, seven or eight years ago, a quantity of zewan from the house of Pieter Kock, dec'd; having stolen from the Heer Cornelis Steenwyck's house at divers times, a quantity of otters and beavers, together with some pieces of manufactured or Hærlem stuffs and a piece of fine napped cloth; also a piece of fine linen; having lately stolen from Cristyntje Capoen's house, at the feast or celebration of the marriage of Lauwrens Vander Spygel and Sara Webbers, to which wedding he was invited, half a dozen silver spoons—being considered by the Magistrates of the Court—all which cannot be properly tolerated in a well regulated place, where Justice is administered, but must be corrected and punished as an example to others: Therefore, Myn Heeren of the Court of this City administering Justice in the name, and on the behalf of the High and Mighty Lords States General of the United Netherlands, the Lords Directors of the Privileged West India Company, and the Lord Director General of New-Netherland, condemn the above named Marten Van Waart, as they hereby do, that he shall be severely scourged with rods in a closed chamber, banished ten years out of this Jurisdiction, and further, in the costs and mises of Justice. Lysbert Anthony, about ten years old, a prisoner for theft, entering, was ordered to say what she stole: declares to have taken Black Seawant from her mistress, the wife of Dr. Drisius, but knows not how much; acknowledges to have also stolen a parcel of Seawant from Jan. Jurriaanzen Becker, where she lived; and declares that Barbar the Negress, who lived at Jan. the Joiner's, had stolen a Silver Bell from Burgher Jorisen, which she gave her to keep, which bell Burgher Jorisen hath again got back, and says that Barbar lives at her brother-in-law's; persisting that the cupping woman told her to steal, and that she did not steal any more than the aforesaid Seawant.

The acknowledgment of her daughter having been read to Mary, the mother of Lysbert, she was ordered to chastise her, or in case of refusal, to let the same be done. Mary, undertaking it, hath, with the assistance of Long Anna, severely punished and whipped her daughter with rods in the presence of the W. Magistrates.

Annetje Minnen, widow of Cornelis Nysen, late Soldier of Rt. Honble. Heer Director-General, going on her three and twentieth year, born at Amsterdam, and Neeltje Pieters, wife of Romeyn, the carman, also going on her three and twentieth year, born at Serdam, being sent for to Court, appear.

The Heer officer says that they, under pretext of buying some linen, have stolen some goods from the house of Symon Jansen Romeyn, concluding that they shall be corrected and punished therefor.

Neeltje Pieters denies having stolen the goods.

The Heer officer undertakes to prove it, requesting that Neeltje and Annetje shall go to prison until he shall take further information in the matter.

Whereupon, Annetje declares that she said to Neeltje at the house of Symon Jansen Romeyn, give me a pair of stockings, which Neeltje did, giving her three pairs. Neeltje says that she thought that was in trade.

Symon Jansen Romeyn brought by the Court Messenger, appears; is asked what theft was committed at his house, and was told to speak the precise truth. Answering, says, five or six pairs, and some galloon and other cord is stolen, by the above named Annetje and Neeltje, who bought at his house one or two ells fine linen and buttons, and that he had received them back.

The declaration of Symon Jansen Romeyn being read to Annetje and Neeltje, Annetje says that Neeltje gave her the stockings, and that Neeltje sold the stockings to Hillitje, the baker. Neeltje says that Annetje sold her the stockings for a crown.

Symon Jansen Romeyn again entering, says he got back five pair stockings, three pair of white and one pair of grey; and that he being a certain time at a house in Pearl street, was asked if he had buyers at his place without money, telling him of the stolen goods, and that they were carried hither and thither, and had received them back from Jurrien, the goldsmith, Cornelis Langevelt, Hillitje the baker; also, a pair of slippers from Hendrick Asuerus, and some black lace, yarn, silk and silk ribbon, missed, but cannot say where it remained.

Neeltje acknowledges to have sold the stockings; three pairs of stockings to Hillitje, the baker, and one pair to Jan, the carman's wife, and that Symon Janzen hath had back one pair hose, and says that she bought the stockings from Annetje.

Annetje denies it. Annetje says that Neel stole a napkin and a salter.

Neel says that Annetje put the stockings in her bosom at Symon Janzen Romeyn's house, also brought home goods to her house. Neeltje acknowledges to have sold a piece of cord to Hery Breser, one bought from Annetje.

Annetje denies it.

Annetje and Neeltje were asked about the black lace and thread, and silk and silk ribbon. Answer, did not take any. Were asked where they sold the slippers? Neeltje acknowledges to have sold slipper's to Pieter Jacobzen's Merite, but says they were her own.

Annetje says that Neel stole a napkin, a salt, from Tryn Claas, which Neel denies.

Annetje says that Neel did it, drawing it afterwards out of her bag.

Tryn Claas appearing in Court, was asked, if a certain female had stolen anything from her? Answers, no; but that Cornelis Langevelt's wife lost a napkin.

Neeltje asks Tryn Claas about the stockings; who declares that she told her that Annetje had given her the stockings to sell, and that she had put them in her bosom at Symon Jansen's.

Annetje confesses she gave Neel the stockings, and says that Neeltje told her that she had not paid for the stockings; whereupon, she said, bless us, what have you done! and let it remain there, thinking if there followed no inquiry, that there would be no harm. Merite, wife of Cornelis Langevelt, appears in Court. Was asked if she had, at any time, lost a napkin and salt? Answers yes, but knows not who took them, and that they were brought back by Romeyn's wife, believing that they were taken from her.

Neeltje confesses to have taken the napkin, and says that Annetje afterwards brought the salt home to her, and that Annetje gave her a piece of lace, which she had taken from Pieter Jacobsen's Merite.

Neel acknowledges to have taken it from Symon Jansen Romeyn, and to have brought it him back.

Merite, the wife of Cornelis Langevelt, is asked, whether she had had her napkin and salt back? Answers, yes, and that the same were brought to Tryn Claas.

Annetje and Neeltje were asked if they had taken anything else from Symon Jansen Romeyn. Answer, no.

Burgomasters and Schepens order the Heer Officer, Pieter Tonneman, to carry Annetje and Neeltje to prison, which was done.

Assave's mother, brother, appearing in Court, is asked if he has well considered why his mother sent her to the hospital. Answer: yes, and his mother told him that because he was a girl, he was not allowed to go back and a doctor told him that she was not fit to be back. He says that she was not fit to be back, but that she gave the Nurse the stockings and underwear that she had and that she was wearing.

The Heer Schout, PIETER TINNEMAN Plaintiff

vs.

LUCAS DIRKZEN, Tavern-keeper, Defendant.

The Heer Plaintiff demands from Defendant one hundred and sixty guilders, for a fine imposed three different times by his deputy, Hans Vis, for having tapped for people in the night, after nine o'clock being rung, saying that there were, once, over twenty persons; and fifty guilders additional for his servant or deputy, having been shoved out of the house by those who sate there, with threats of violence.

Deflt. says, he denies it all, except that, once six persons sat in his house about half-past nine, and that Hans Vos was drunk when he came there, and drew his dagger, against which, Marten, the sailmaker, resisted, which happened when the bell stopped ringing.

Hans Vos entering, denies having been drunk when he imposed the fine on them, and having drawn the dagger; and he hath laid the fine three times.

The Heer officer calls for a fine on the Deflt., having called Hans Vos a liar in the presence of the Court.

Hans Vos was asked if he did not know who sat there? Answers, he knew no one as they pushed him out of doors; but saw well that the house and table were full of people.

Burgomasters and Schepens having heard and understood all, condemn the Deflt. in a fine of forty-two guilders, with costs to be applied as is proper.

The Heer President states that Burgomasters yesterday had summoned the bakers before them, and that Hendrick Willemsen, baker, appearing, declared that one baker raised the price of the grain on the other,* and as heretofore, the flour was sifted from the meal, that the bran is now separated and bread baked from it, and that it is forbidden in Holland to bake any bran, but occasionally some bran was put through the meal, but no use made of it; and that the baker left it frequently to their youngsters (apprentices) when now and again from home, who do not work it sufficiently, whereby the bread is indifferently baked, and that on the contrary no baker in Fatherland leaves it to the boys to set the bread in the oven.

Which statement being considered, Burgomasters and Schepens have concluded and resolved to make known the following Acte to the bakers by the Court Messenger:

All bakers of this City are hereby ordered and charged by the W. Heeren, Burgomasters and Schepens, on the date hereof under written, forthwith, as soon as this shall be notified them, to bake both wheaten and white bread, good and suitable for the accommodation of the Burghers and Inhabitants here, as well as all others requiring it, if they have flour, on pain of not being allowed to bake for one year and six weeks, and fifty guilders fine in addition on those who are found to have flour and will not bake, and still twenty-five guilders to be forfeited by those who have not baked good bread fit to be eaten. Burgomasters and Schepens of the City Amsterdam in N. Netherland, having considered the papers, documents and vouchers, made use of on both sides in the suit between Geertruyd Wingers, Plt'ff, in a case of defloration, with and against Geleyn Verplauck, Def't. In said case, Plt'ff concludes that the Def't shall be bound to marry her according to promise, as he slept with her and she had procreated a child by him; and in case of refusal shall pay her, for having deflowered her, the sum of six hundred guilders in Beavers, one hundred like guilders for lying-in charges, and an additional hundred guilders per annum also in Beavers for the maintenance of the child. Def't acknowledges to have had such conversation with her, but denies having given her promise of marriage. Burgomasters and Schepens having read and weighed all that is material, condemn the Def't Geleyn Verplauck to pay the Plt'ff for her defloration and lying-in expenses the sum of four hundred guilders, half Beavers and half Zewant, the arrest remaining so long valid, and parties on both sides were condemned to maintain their child and in the costs of suit. Thus done and adjdged in Amsterdam, in N. Netherland, at the Court of the W. Heeren, Burgomasters and Schepens, absent Joannes Van Brugh and Jan Vigne. Ady. as above.

 STYNTJE MARIUS, Def't. }

Plt'ff desires to know to what purpose she sets down the child he had by her at the place where he works?

Def't says because he gave her no money.

Plt'ff says he has settled with her, and that a balance is still coming to her of one hundred guilders, which he will not give her except with the knowledge of the Magistrates.

The W. Court order the Plt'ff to give the Def't the hundred guilders, and the Def't is ordered to leave the jurisdiction of this City.

The Heer President states that some conversation was had some days since, that the Yachts trading up and down (open of) are indebted for wharfage for loading and unloading at the wharf, which they have not paid; and as they are equally bound to pay as the Ships, asks if it were not advisable to request, by Petition of the Rt. Hon. Heer the Director General and Council, to order the Yachts to pay in place of the wharfage, each of them one or two voyages to Tappan, and bring from there for this City, their Yachts full of stone, in order to surround the City with a wall in course of time.

Which, having been taken into consideration by Burgomasters, it was resolved in the affirmative.

Geertruyd Wingers demands execution on the judgment which she had against Geleyn Verplanck, in date first October, 1661.

Bailiff was authorized to put these in execution.

The Heer President states that there was some talk yesterday regarding the Bakers, and that it is Ordered by the Honble. Director General and Council, that there must be baking twice a week; then, whereas, they complain that they ought to be obligated at this time in consequence of the purchase of the grain, it is necessary, therefore, to deliberate, so that neither the bakers on the one side, nor the Commonalty on the other, be taken short; and in order to proceed with the matter, it was resolved to send for Hendrick Willemsen, baker, who, appearing, was asked how it came that the bakers bake no bread? To which he answers, that they are afraid to buy grain for beavers, as they may suffer loss, giving reasons thereof; saying further, no baker can bake his bread under a crown, to which it was observed, that the bakers can well bake the bread which they at present bake, for fifteen stivers; and gave Hendrick Willemsen, baker, to understand, that the higher the loaf was sold, so much higher was the grain enhanced in price.

Burgomasters and Schepens decide that the bakers shall be ordered to bake good bread, and to keep continually large bread in the shops on pain of not being allowed to bake for one year and six weeks, and that a Placard be drawn up to this effect.

Burgomasters and Schepens also mention, that they had spoken about the forestallers of what the Indians bring to sell, such as Venison, Maize and Fish, and that such ought to be prevented.

Whereupon, it was decided to take into consideration the previously adopted Resolution of the Honble. Lords Director General and Council; to wit, that no Indians shall bring any articles to any places except such as shall be ordered and appointed therefor.

Burgomasters and Schepens order the Heer Officer to bring in what he has to object to the person of Jeronimus Ebbinck sitting in Court with the Heeren, Burgomasters and Schepens.

After putting the question, and some conversation over and hither, it was unanimously decided, first to write to Fatherland and demand a Mint, having that, to cry down the Seawant, and to fix the beaver at six guilders, and the Tobacco at four and a half stivers per lb., and that the Lords Majores would please to furnish some silver and silver coin for that purpose.

CLAAS TYSEN, Cooper, Deft. }

Pltff. complains that Deft. hath severely beaten his son (also appearing), bound to him to learn a trade; showing some blue marks.

Deft. says, that he frequently admonished his son to come betimes to work, and said, that if he were in Holland, and did not take better care, he should get a flogging. To which he gave for answer:—that he should like to see once who would strike him; thereupon, catching him by the sleeve, he, in return, caught him by the hair; whereupon, his brother came behind and struck him.

Pltff. says, that Deft. frequently stated:—I shall beat you so that the Devil shall laugh at it.

Deft. denies it.

Pltff.'s son undertakes to prove it.

The Heer Officer renders himself party's guardian.

The W. Court order Pltff.'s son to prove his statement at the next Court day.

This day, 21st October, 1661, is the following Placard concerning the Bakers, read out from the front of the City Hall, after the usual Ringing three times of the Bell:—

Further, no bakers, nor any who make a trade of baking coarse or white bread, to sell to Christians, shall mix, in whole or in part, any sifted bran in the coarse bread, but shall bake the coarse loaf as it comes from the Mill, nor bake any sort of coarse or white bread for Christians, except as hereinbefore specified, under a penalty as before, the inspection thereof remaining to the Judicature of this W. PIETER WESSELZEN, Deft.

Pltff. demands from deft, balance of Seven guilders, with costs.

Deft. says he will pay if the others pay.

Pltff. says that they sat together drinking three days and three nights.

The W. Court order Deft. to pay the Pltff. the Seven guilders, with costs.

Interrogations drawn up to examine and hear thereupon the person and prisoner, Mesaack Martens, late Company's Mason.

First, if you the prisoner, have not stolen, more than a month ago, a quantity of cabbage, at the house of one Pieter Jansen, ship carpenter, residing at the entrance of Maiden Lane ('t m'ragde paatje), when you were caught and overtaken by the Watch?

2.

Answers. No person was by or seen; and stole no more cabbages than the watch took from him.

3.

Answers. That Barent Cruytdop told him that his hat was there?

5.

Answers. No.

6.

Answers,

Answers. That the woman got it back again even to a pin.

Thus done, and the aforesaid Mesaack Martens questioned and by him answered, in the Court of the W. Heeren, Schout, Burgomasters, and Schepens, the 8th Novemb, 1661.

On the date 11 November following, the aforesaid Mesaack Martensen, prisoner, is again questioned on the above points of interrogation, in presence of the Heeren Commissioners, Timotheus Gabry and Johannes Van Brugh, appointed thereto by the W. Court, and heard and answered by him as followeth:—

On the first.

Answers. Acknowledges to have taken five or six cabbages from the garden, and to have climbed over the palisades.

2.

Answers. Hath stolen, as before, five or six cabbages, and on no other place.

2.

And how many cabbages did you, the prisoner, steal, as well there as at other places; who helped you, and were you abettors and fellow thieves?

3.

And did you not, about fourteen days ago, having climbed in behind the fence of one Lucas Andriessen, Skipper, trading at Fort Orange, and going through the garden, and entering the house there very early in the morning, were you not found there with a tub of butter about half empty, and did you not steal and take it with you to your house?

4.

And did you not hastily retire, and on hearing noise, leave your hat behind, which was then taken up by one Barent Cruytdop, and saved?

5.

And did you not frequently break off, draw out and burn the City's or Company's palisades, or where do these remain, or to whom sold?

6.

What more, and where have you, prisoner, stolen; where concealed, to whom sold; who are your receivers or abettors or co-operators?

The W. Court asked the prisoner, Mesaack, where the property is which he took out of the chest that he broke open, as the woman complained to whom it happened?

3.

Answers. No, and says he does not know where his garden is, nor where it comes out in the rear.

4.

Answers. Knows of no noise, and was not there, and knows not how his hat came there.

5.

6.

Answers. Stole nothing but the cabbage, and had no abettors.

7.

Answers. No.

7.

And did not you, prisoner, steal some fowls and turkies from the garden of Mons. Verlett, and what more?

Regarding the chest, he declares that he was to have some money from one Mary, for having boarded her, and that the maid had gone over towards the Ferry, and having remained away somewhat long, whereby not receiving any money from her, he took out a gown and pawned it, but as it was again asked for by the maid, he released it, and gave it back to her with all her other property.

PIETER PIETERSON SMITH. Def., }

Pltff. complains that he cannot walk the streets in peace, in consequence of the Def. calling him a Black pudding, and insulting him.

Def. denies it, and says he does not speak a word to him.

Mesaack Martenzen, brought forward, was, at the request of the Heer Officer, for further interrogation, examined by Torture as to how many cabbages, fowls, turkies, and how much butter he had stolen, and who his abettors and co-operators have been. Answering: he persists by his reply, as per Interrogatories, that he did not steal any butter, fowls or turkies, nor had any abettors; being again set loose, the Heer Officer produces his demand against the delinquent, concluding, that for his committing theft, voluntarily confessed without Torture or chains, he shall be brought to the usual place of Criminal Justice, well fastened to a stake and severely whipped, and banished from the jurisdiction of this City Amsterdam, for the term of ten years; all with costs.

Which demand and conclusion of the Heer Officer being considered by the W. Court, and the voluntary confession of the delinquent, Mesaack Martensen heard the sentence as follows:—

SENTENCE.

Whereas, Mesaack Martens, of Amsterdam, imprisoned in this city for his theft committed in date, the Eight of October last, and regarding the same, examined by the W. Court, as by its Commissaries, hath voluntarily confessed and acknowledged, without Torture and chains, to have stolen some cabbages from the garden of Pieter Jansen, and taken from the chest, which stood in his house, illegally, and without the knowledge of the owner, and pawned, a gown, all which cannot and ought not to be tolerated in a well ordered place, where Justice is wont to be administered, but on the contrary, ought to be punished as an example to others. Plt'ff says that because he refused to give the Def't acte of the judgment of the W. Court, against Mighiel Tades, as he could not get any pay from the Def't, he has been abused by him as a rascal, and had said to him—Had I you at another place I would teach you something else. Demanding that defendant shall make honourable and profitable reparation for the insult, honourable by acknowledging that he is sorry for having injured the Plt'ff, begging forgiveness of God, Justice, and the Plt'ff; and profitably, by paying such a fine as the W. Court may, upon examination of the matter, consider proper.

The Def't concludes for the nullity of the summons, inasmuch as he has not been furnished, according to the custom of Holland, with any grounds of action; and the Def't being then informed that there is no such custom here, he requests copy of the demand.

The Heer Officer as guardian with the Secretary, says, that in consequence of the slander and affront offered by Def't to Plt'ff in scolding him as a rascal, &c., which affects the honor, being tender; also this Worshipful and Hon'ble Court is not willing to be attended by a rascally Secretary, concludes for a fine of fifty guilders, to be applied at the discretion of this W. Court, that it may serve as an example to all other slanderers, who for trifles and insignificancies have constantly in their mouth curses and abuse of other honourable people, whenever things do not go just according to their fancy. Jemima Moreau, entering, was asked what induced her to insult Jacques Cosseau? Whereupon she said that Jacques Cosseau had arrested herself and her husband without cause, when they were coming to pay him, and that Cosseau had sold their grain without their knowledge, and had delivered them Summer, instead of Winter grain, with stricken measure, whilst they gave him heaped up measure; was told that she abused him for a cheat, &c., according to the declaration of Jacques Fletchant, executed before the notary M. de Vas and certain Witnesses, dated 11 May, 1661, which she denies; was told that according to the declaration of Francois Gee, made before the abovenamed De Vas and certain Witnesses, dated May 15th, 1661, she had said that Jacques Cosseau had sold her corn without her knowledge, but that she did not complain thereof, as he gave her a good acc. thereof to her satisfaction; which she also denied.

Jacques Cossean, entering, was told that he had but one declaration, setting forth that he had been slandered by Jemima Moreau; whereupon, he gave for answer, though he had no witnesses, the papers and documents of his party are evidence sufficient, confiding himself to them; produces certain declarations which some Frenchmen had sent him without having asked it.

Jemima Moreau was asked what she had to say against Jacques Cossean, inasmuch as she says, People know well what Jacques Cossean is—whereunto she answers, that he is a Frenchman, and that he presumes too much; and was asked, why she railed so strongly against him, and if she had any thing to say against him? Answers, No—and was angry that he had arrested her and her husband.

Parties entering, Jemima Moreau is asked, in presence of Jacques Cossean, inasmuch as she says, that she has nothing against Jacques Cossean, why she collected a mob about his door?

Answers, as they spoke French to one another, every body stopped, and she did not collect a mob.

Jacques Cossean declares, that for two years he had shown her and her husband as much favor as to any one, and had last year advanced her over a thousand guilders; and speaking to her husband for payment, as he had tobacco, he enquired the price, which he fixed higher for him than he gave to others, and that her husband said to him—If you do not take the tobacco for this price you must look where you can get your pay; so that he was obliged to take the tobacco, on which he suffered considerable loss.

Parties again coming in, said Jacques Cossean was asked, if he was authorized to sell the grain? Answers, Yes; was further asked, if he were willing to declare so under oath? Answers, yes—and gave them their grain in return to their satisfaction, according to the aforesaid declaration of Francois Gee, and no discontent was exhibited until a year and a half afterwards.

Jemima Moreau acknowledges that her husband had allowed Jacques Cossean to take three skepels grain for his profit.

Burgomasters and Schepens having heard parties, and read, and considered the papers, documents and pleas which they had on both sides made use of, and whatever was material, adjudge that Deft., Jemima Moreau, shall declare in presence of her party, Jacques Cossean, before the W. Court, that she can say nothing of him but what is honourable and honest, and to pay besides to the poor of this city the sum of twenty-five guilders, with costs of suit.

Jemima Moreau entering with Jacques Cossean, Jemima Moreau was made acquainted with the judgment of the Court, and told that she shall declare that she has nothing to say against the person of Jacques Cossean, except what is honourable and honest, which she did; and was further told, that the W. Court condemn her for the slander, in the fine of twenty-five guilders, and to pay the costs of suit.

Jacques Cossean says, he does not require from her the costs he incurred, but gave them to the poor of this city; and that she, Deft., shall remain in arrest until she have satisfied the judgment.

Wherefore, Burgomasters and Schepens grant her eight days.

The Heer Nicassius de Sille and Hendrick Janzen Vander Vin, in quality as Churchwardens, entering, report that they have agreed with Claas Maarschalk to repair the glass in the church, which he undertook for a reasonable price, and rendered unto them an unreasonable acct therefor, producing the same, with a request, that the Magistrates examine the same.

Claas Maarschalk says, he calculated according to the church work, and hath had great trouble to set the lozenges in the arms in their proper places.

Burgomasters and Schepens refer the matter in question to the Hr. Cornelis Steenwyck, Old Schephen, and actual Orphan Master of this city, and to Adolf Pietersen, to take up the acct., to discuss and decide the same; parties, if possible, to reconcile; if not, to report their conclusion to the Court.

The prisoner, Reyer Cornelissen, heard on interrogatories, hath answered thereon, as appears by said Interrogatories; declaring besides, that he bought from a Negro, by the new Bridge, the sack of grain which he had thrown in the water by the Cripple bush; but says, he does not know the negro; and gave for the corn five and a half guilders, and that he had the same corn at Andries Joghensen's house, where he lodged, bringing the same thence to Thomas Hall's, when he should go work there to help to put on the said Hall's loft the grain which Thomas Hall got from Heemsteede, and removed the same from his lodgings when he went to get something to eat; declaring to have purchased a Mackerel and to have taken a white loaf from the house with him, and then to have carried the sack along, intending to bring the grain to the Mill, and sat so long on the pigstye, behind Thomas Hall's, until he removed it thence.

Seletje, the wife of Andries Joghensen, sent for to Court, appears; who was asked if Reyer Cornelissen, the prisoner, lodged at her house? Answers yes.

Further asked, how he behaved himself there? Answers, has no complaint against him, except that he owes her nine guilders.

Asked, if he had a sack of corn at her house? Answers, saw no sack of corn at her house.

Whereupon, Reyer Cornelissen says he had the same under his bed.

Again asked, if she saw him go out with a mackerel and a white loaf in his hand? Answers, yes.

Again asked, if she also saw him take a sack of corn with him? Answers, such hath not seen.

And whereas Ryer Cornelissen denies what has been laid to his charge by declaration, the Heer officer demands that he shall be further heard after having been subjected to Torture.

The W. Court grant the request.

Deft. acknowledges to have had a knife in her hand when she was in the garden to cut pot-herbs, saying that the negro seized hold of her so indecently, and threw her on the ground; that she was wholly ashamed of those who might be looking, and that it well might be that the negro then might have wounded himself with the knife, but denies having cut him.

The W. Court order the Deft. to prove that the negro had indecently thrown her on the ground.

House of Representatives for the Province of New York. }

The Address of the Representatives for this Province, to the Commander-in-Chief and Council, for the proclaiming a Day of Fast and Humiliation once a month, until the month of June next.

May it Please your Honours :

The Representatives convened in General Assembly, are deeply sensible that the manifold Sins and Transgressions of the Inhabitants within this province have justly provoked the Almighty God, and are the Chief and only cause of his Displeasure, and of the sore and grievous Afflictions that this province doth now, and hath for several years last past labored under; and being now visited with the great Calamities of a burthensome War, and a Blast upon the Corn—we do, therefore, find ourselves obliged in all Duty and Humility to hearken unto his Rebukes, and to take Hold of that most excellent Invitation of our Blessed Saviour in the Gospel of St. Matthew, where he dispenseth his great love in these words: "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest in the Faith and Hope thereof." We humbly supplicate your Honours in Behalf of ourselves, and all the Inhabitants of this Province, that for the Removal of the Almighty's Displeasure, and the sore and grievous Afflictions that we now groan under; and also that his Majesty's Arms employed in Europe and this Province against his enemies, and for the Defence of the Protestant Religion, may be prosperous and successful—that a Day of Fast and Humiliation may be appointed once a month, until the month of June next, for the imploring the Divine Assistance and Relief of our Most Gracious God in the premises.

MONDAY, 10 o'clock A. M. September 28, 1691.

Ordered, That the first Wednesday in every month 'till the month of June following, be observed and kept a Fast Day; and that Proclamation be made throughout the whole Province to enjoin the strict observance thereof; and that all persons be inhibited any servile labor on the said days. And Major Monville prayed to carry this Minute to the House of Representatives.

In witness whereof, these presents are confirmed with our usual signature, and with our seal thereto affixed. Done at the aforesaid Island of Manahatas, in Fort Amsterdam, this 12th July, 1630.

We, Directors and Councillors of New Netherland, residing on the Island of Manahatas and Fort Amsterdam, under the Jurisdiction of their High Mightinesses the Lords States General of the United Netherlands and the Incorporated West India Company, at their Chambers at Amsterdam, do witness and declare by these presents, that on this day, the date underwritten, before us, in their proper persons, came and appeared, to wit; Quisquebecs Ecsanques, and Siscoutsuis Inhabitants of their village, lying on the south corner of the bay of south river, and declared voluntarily and deliberately, and with the advice and special order of the rulers, and with the consent of the community there, that on the first day of June, in the last past year, 1629, for and in consideration of certain parcels of goods which they acknowledge to have satisfactorily received into their hands before the passing of these presents, they have, in their true and free ownership, transported, given over, and deeded to and for the behoof of the much-esteemed Mr. Samuel Godyn (absent, and for whom we, ex officio, under suitable stipulations, accept the same.) to wit, the land belonging to them, lying on the south side of the aforesaid bay, by us named the bay of south river, extending in length from Cape Hinloop to the mouth of said South River, about eight large miles and land ward, and in breadth one half mile, extending to a certain valley or marsh, through which these bounds can be sufficiently distinguished, and that with all the action, right and equity, which to them in their aforesaid quality appertain; constituting and putting the aforesaid Mr. Godyn in their place and stead, in the real and actual possession thereof, and, moreover, also giving full and irrevocable might, authority and special license unto the said Mr. Godyn, or his assigns, peaceably and quietly to possess, enjoy, cultivate, use and have the said land tanquam actor et procurator in rem suam ac propriam, and also to do with, manage and dispose of the same, as he may or can with his own lands, to which he is rightfully and lawfully entitled, without their, the grantors, having, reserving thereto, or therout any part, right, title or authority, either of ownership, power or jurisdiction, but to the behoof as aforesaid; from henceforth, forever desisting, resigning and renouncing the same. Promising, moreover, not only to keep, maintain and fulfil this their transport, and whatever may be done by virtue thereof forever after, firm, inviolable and irrevocable; but also to maintain and defend the aforesaid land against all persons, free from all claims, challenge or incumbrance to be made thereon by any person, all in good faith, without fraud or deceit. In witness hereof, these presents are confirmed by our usual signatures, and with our seal thereto affixed. Done on the Island of Manhatas this 15th day of July, 1630.

Whereas Bastiaen Jansen Crol, Commissary, in opposition to the Honorable the Council of these places, has given out, both at Fort Orange and also here at the Manhatas, that the land lying about Fort Orange will not be brought into Market for sale this present year, or they should be his, and if hereafter this should be obtained, then would this belong and be sold to Virginians alone as long as he, Crol, should continue to hold his residence at the fort; that, moreover, Wolphert Gerritssen has it in charge from their High Mightinesses to inform them of such an opportunity there; that he had afterwards sent him, Crol, down as an express, (to ascertain) what and what manner of attention they, in their deliberation, would give to the subject; that they had thereto replied, that this year there would be no chance or opportunity of obtaining any land; this was frequently repeated according to the testimony by the said Wolphert Gerritssen. After this it happened that Ghillis Hosset, on the 27th July, 1631, while sailing up the river, had come to the place where Jan Jansen Meynslay, with a company of men, for the purpose of procuring spars for the new ship; and that while there and in the evening, there came Cattamack, Nemoanem't, Abantsene, Sargiesknoa, Kauamiah, owners and proprietors of their respective parcels of land, extending along the river south and north from the aforesaid Fort Orange, to a little south of Macnem's little Castle. The forementioned owners, in order to accomplish the aforesaid necessary ends, named in particular their land as eligibly situated on the East shore from over against Castle Island to the aforesaid Fort from Jecktanoeik, the Mill Creek, or North to Nejagouse, in full extent about two great miles; the aforesaid Ghillis Hosset having obtained from the said owners of the said land the proposition to sell, cede and deliver their respective parcels of land, and in the presence and with the advice of Jan Jansen Meyns, Wolphert Gerritssen and Jan Tyssen, trumpeter, they agreed to sell, transport and deed their respective parcels of Land; and they, accordingly, on the 6th August, thereafter ensuing, did this before us, the Director and Council of New Netherland, residing on the Island of Manahatas at Fort Amsterdam, under the jurisdiction of their High Mightinesses the Lords States General of the United Netherlands and the Incorporated West India Company, at their Chambers at Amsterdam, voluntarily and deliberately, for the consideration of certain parcels of goods, which they respectively acknowledge to have received into their own hands and power before the passing of these presents, by virtue of the article of sale, and by these presents, they do transport, cede and deliver to and for the behoof of Mr. Killiaen Van Renseler, (absent) and for whom we, ex officio, accept the same, with suitable stipulations, namely, the respective parcels of land heretofore specified, with the trees and dependencies of the same, together with all the action, right and equity, ceding to him all that pertains thereto, collectively or severally, constituting and substituting the said Mr. Renseler in their stead and right, and putting him into the real and actual possession thereof, and furthermore giving him full, absolute and irrevocable might, authority and special command over the said land, tantum auctor et procurator in rem suam ac propriam, by the said Renseler, or those who may hereafter lawfully succeed to his action and might aforesaid, to be possessed and occupied and farmed in peace, to do therewith to trade, to dispose thereof as his own, as other property in his own lawful possession and right, without their, the grantors, reserving or withholding any part, right, action or actions therein, but to the behoof aforesaid, by this their transport forever, desisting and renouncing. Hereby, not only promising to keep this transport, and all that shall be done in virtue thereof, firm, inviolable and irrevocable forever, but also to warrant and defend the aforesaid land against all claims, demands and incumbrances whatever, in good faith. These presents are confirmed with our usual signature and our common seal.

Done on the aforesaid Island of Manahatas, at Fort Amsterdam, the date before written.

We, the Director and Council of New Netherland, residing on Island of Manahatas, under the Jurisdiction of their High Mightinesses the Lords States General of the United Netherlands, and the General Incorporated West India Company, at their Chambers at Amsterdam, Witness and declare, by these presents, that on this day, the date underwritten, came and appeared before us, in their own proper persons, Krahorat Tomecap, Tselmokwemama, Hieromies Sierarewach, Sackwenoen, Wissepock, Saheinsios (or boy), Inhabitants, owners and heirs of the Land, by us called the Staten Island, on the West shore of Hamels Hoofden hills, and declared, that for and in consideration of certain parcels of goods which they, respectively, before the passing of these presents, acknowledge to have received into their hands and power, according to articles of sale, they have transported, ceded, delivered and granted, and by virtue of the right of selling and conveying, do, by these presents, transport, cede, deliver and convey to and for the behoof of Mr. Michiel Pauw (absent), and for whom we, ex-officio, accept the same, with suitable stipulations, the aforesaid land, with the trees, appurtenances and dependencies thereof, and all the right, title and interest thereto belonging, or which they may be entitled by succession or inheritance, constituting and substituting the said Mr. Pauw in their stead and place, putting him in real and actual possession thereof; and also giving full and irrevocable authority and special license to the said Mr. Pauw, or those who may hereafter obtain his action, the said land, with the dependencies of the same, to enter upon and possess in peace, to inhabit, to farm, to hold, to use, and to do therewith as an attorney in his own cause, to trade and dispose thereof as he may do with others, his own lands and domains, without their, the grantors, having or claiming any part, right, estate or title thereto in the least, either as to property, authority, or jurisdiction, but the same to the behoof aforesaid, from henceforth, forever, wholly quit claiming, surrendering and renouncing, promising, moreover, not only to maintain and keep the same lands against all persons free from all claim, action, pretence, challenge or incumbrance, as well against the aforesaid Wissipock, before mentioned, when arrived to years of manhood, as others claiming the same, as in equity they are bound to do, bonafide, without fraud or deceit. These presents are confirmed with our signature and with our seal thereto affixed.

Done at Fort Amsterdam aforesaid, in the Island of Manahatas, on this 10th day of August, 1630.

The following Statement is given in relation to the Iron Railing around the Park, and the removal of the columns at the Southern end of the same, &c. :—

In the year 1821 the Iron Railing was ordered to be continued all around the Park at an expense of $15,622.

Under the columns of the principal gateway, at the Southern extremity, it is said the following articles were deposited, viz :—

In the second column from Broadway, second course above the base, a tin box containing some coins, writings, &c., together with some of the twigs of the trees under which Napoleon Bonaparte stood at the battle of Waterloo. These, with some State documents, make up the list of articles under this column. Under the other were some newspapers—the New-York Gazette, containing an account of the tremendous gale; Mercantile Advertiser and the Evening Post, containing the death of Napoleon Bonaparte, Croaker & Co's Address, Park Theatre; the Advocate, Daily Advertiser, American, Commercial, account of the death of George IV.; New-York Journal, Boston Sentinel, death of the Queen of England, all in a lead box; William Paff deposited tin box containing coins; Dr. D. Hosack, history; William Maxwell, tin box, containing the names of officers, civil and military; E. Williams, President Mechanics' Society, its charter, by-laws, &c.; and in a tobacco box, a cent and a half cent—the box was given by Anthony Steinbeck, Esq.; small flag, by Jackson Baggot; a cut-glass tumbler, copper coin, medals of New-York African Society; Dr. Mitchell, a large box of coins, &c. Drawing of steamship Fulton, in a leaden roll, about a foot long; Address delivered by Dr. J. S. Mitchell; Stephen Allen, Mayor.

In the year 1847 it became necessary to alter the Southern extremity of the grounds, whereby the columns above alluded to were removed, and the remains of the articles deposited at that period were taken therefrom, under direction of Alderman Crolus, the indefatigable Chairman of the Committee on Public Offices and Repairs. Some of the articles were in a fair state of preservation, but many others were not discovered.

It will be remembered, that upon the top of these columns a large Ball was placed on each, which were obtained by one Mr. Mazanna, a Greek Pilot, who was with Commodore Nicholson, in 1817 and 1818, at the Island of Rhode, in Turkey.

These Balls were procured from Thebes—they were such as were fired from their large mortar brass pieces. The Turkish authorities at that time objected to the Commodore's taking them away, their knowledge of the U. States at that period being somewhat limited; but on the representation made by Mr. Mazanna, to his countrymen, they assented; these Balls have been ordered to be placed in the columns of Union Square.

This Greek Pilot became so much attached to Commodore Nicholson, that he left his native country and came to this with the Commodore, and has resided here ever since.
